SLAYER OF MAN AT ROADHOUSE SAYS HE WAS ATTACKED

Paul Werner Testifies He First When Struck After Three Men Accosted Him When He Slept in Auto.

ANOTHER VERSION GIVEN BY WITNESSES

Companion of Norman Miller Says Quarrel Preceded Shooting — Werner Held for Further Investigation.

Paul Werner, 48 years old, of 4357 Delor street, manufacturer and inventor of moving picture machine appliances and household novelties, was released at Clayton today on a $5000 bond to answer any charge that may be brought against him in connection with the killing of Norman Miller, 30 years old, of 2012 Ruiger street, a filling station manager, whom Werner said he shot when he believed he was about to be assaulted or robbed at 10:30 last night at Risch's Grove, 701 Lemay Ferry road, St. Louis County.

A corner's jury today returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney McElhinney said that despite this verdict he thought it advisable to place Werner under bond until further investigation of the shooting. The bond is returnable Nov. 15.

Werner, who was arrested at his home, after notifying the police that he believed he shot a man, testified at the inquest that he went to the roadhouse to deliver a letter which had been addressed in his care to Richard Klingner, a waiter. After remaining there only a short time, he said, he tried to start his automobile, but found he could not. Believing he had flooded the carburetor, he said, he decided to wait a few minutes before trying the starter again.

Went to Sleep in Auto. In this interval, he said, he went to sleep while sitting in the automobile. He was awakened, he said, by a hand pulling at his necktie, where he wore a diamond stickpin. He said a man about six feet tall and without a coat stood near the door of the car, which had been opened, and near him were two other men, one of whom wore a sweater and one of whom wore a suit. He said he saw the man with the sweater bend over the coatless man and pick up a revolver from the ground, after which the coatless man's companions ran away. Werner then started to St. Louis, he said, after telling Risch what had happened.

Miller's Companions Testify. Testimony, which differed greatly from Werner's, was given at the inquest by Joseph Hunt, porter at the roadhouse, and by Miller's companions, Herman Brinkmeyer, of 877 Swiss avenue, and Clarence Dawe, of 1814 Mullaphy street, both chauffeurs.

Hunt testified that he got up to close a cellar door and saw Werner apparently just awakening in his machine. He said Werner called to him that he was feeling bad and said: "How long have I been here?" Before he could reply, he said, Miller, coatless, and Brinkmeyer in a sweater emerged from the roadhouse and he heard Werner say: "If you feel bad you must have had a drink." Hunt said Werner replied: "You mind your own business and I'll attend to mine." Miller made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Advisory northeast storm warnings were ordered on Lakes Superior, Michigan, Huron and Western Erie lake today. DESERTER FROM ARMY MARRIED THREE WOMEN IN 17 MONTHS

Young Man Arrested in East St. Louis Since May, 1920.

Harold Bradshaw, 22 years old, is in a cell at the Wyoming Street Station reflecting upon the law that decrees a man shall have only one wife at a time. He is being tried on charges of desertion from the army out of court. He was arrested in East St. Louis last night and brought to this city.

He told a Post-Dispatch reporter he deserted from the army in May, 1920, and since then had married Miss Cecelia Taphorn of Alton; Miss Alma Freund of 3107 California avenue, this city; and Miss Helen Johnson of New York.

"MILD SUMMER INFLUENZA" IS PREVALENT IN ST. LOUIS

Health Commissioner Says It Is Slight Form of Cold, and There Is No Occasion for Alarm.

Health Commissioner Starkloff said today that the slight form of cold, with which many St. Louisans are afflicted at present, and which, for the want of a more specific term, has been referred to as a "mild summer influenza," is absolutely no occasion for alarm.

The active nasal operations and the ticklish cough which accompany the malady, he said, are no more serious this year than they have been in the past. The number of cases reported, he added, is normal. The cold is caused by rapid changes in temperature and is infectious to a degree on account of the great amount of sneezing it produces.

OFFICIAL PREDICTS 1,500,000 IDLE IN BRITAIN THIS WINTER

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Nearly 1,500,000 persons will be without employment in Great Britain throughout the coming winter, declared T. J. McNamara, Minister of Labor, last night, during debate in the House of Commons on the unemployment bill. The Government, he said, had decided to extend the scope of the measure so that it would apply to Ireland. This is contrary to the original intention of the Cabinet.

GULF HURRICANE NEAR TAMPA

Severing of Wires Not Considered as Alarming.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—Reports received here indicate no serious damage had been done as a result of the gulf hurricane centered near Tampa.

Severing of communication is not regarded as alarming as the wires traverse many forests and small trees which, blown down by a moderate gale, might easily fall across and break them.

WILSON'S HAIR WHITE, BUT HE WALKS UNAIDED

Remarkable Improvement in Former President's Health Told of by Recent Callers at His Home.

HE AGAIN WEIGHS NORMAL 180 POUNDS

His Cheeks Are Full, With Good Color, and He Shows Eagerness to Test His Strength.

From the Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Former President Wilson has completely regained his normal weight—180 pounds—and in other respects as well has shown remarkable improvement during the last few weeks. His cheeks, sunken and gray when he left the White House, have filled out and taken on color. His appetite is good. His old zest for work and for closely reasoned analysis of public affairs, which he has shown to his frequent callers, has returned. To all outward appearances, save one, the former President, when seated in the library of his S street home or riding in his automobile on one of his frequent outings, is the same man physically that he was before his illness.

The perceptible change in the appearance of Mr. Wilson has been made by the rapid greying of his hair, which he left the White House. It is now almost a snowy white.

Mr. Wilson has proved that he can get up out of a chair unassisted and even step into his car without aid. On the one occasion when he is known to have visited his law office—the office of the distinguished firm of Wilson & Colby—he walked with only the support of his cane about 50 feet from his car to an elevator at his floor, he left the elevator and made his way alone to his office.

Eager to Test Strength. Knowing that his strength is improving, the former President is anxious to test it. He has been cautioned by his physician, however, not to take any tasks this fall. When he goes to Keith's Vaudeville Theater, as he does nearly every Saturday night, a supporting hand is placed under his elbow as he leaves his car. The hand is not required, but it is there as a precaution. Sometimes Mrs. Wilson assists him, and sometimes an attendant, with whose services the former President appears to be more and more inclined to dispense.

When Mr. Wilson returned to private life, he was unable to move his left arm. The paralytic condition which afflicted the left side of his body during his illness had gradually improved, but within recent weeks marked progress has been made in that direction. The former President is able to move the arm more and more. He can flex the fingers of the left hand. If he were a left-handed man, as he is, he would not need to have any hesitancy in shaking hands with it.

Keeps in Touch With Affairs. Several recent callers, including two former members of his Cabinet, Joseph Daniels and Edwin T. Meredith, have borne unanimous testimony to the former President's excellent spirits and much improved health. It is their verdict, as well as that of Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his physician, that his physical condition is better now than at any previous time since he left the White House.

The President is described as taking the keenest possible interest in current affairs, national and international. He is said to read the newspapers assiduously. Though he has consistently refrained from making any public statement, he is known to entertain some very decided views on the performances of the Harding administration.

High School Football Player Dies

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Harry Johnson, 15 years old, Evanston High School football player, died yesterday from concussion of the brain, caused when he was struck on the head in a scrimmage last Friday.

Wilson's Brain Never Better Than It Is Now, Says a Caller

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—RECENT caller on former President Wilson, following his visit, during which there was a discussion of international politics, said:

"His brain has been irritated just enough by what has taken place to make his comments sharp and clear. The effect of the irritation is somewhat like that of a cup of coffee. Mr. Wilson's brain was never better than it is today; it cuts like a razor. You can put it down that he knows what is going on. Nothing of moment escapes him. He is looking at the future as well as the present. In the marvellously clear language at his command he can paint for you a vivid picture of what he believes is going to happen to the world."

Listening to him I've often wished that stenographer were present to take down his prophecies. Time may prove him to be wrong, but it would be vastly interesting 25 years from now to check up his predictions against the events."

J. H. STEEDMAN ESTATE VALUED AT $1,408,544

Manufacturer Left $955,768 in Bonds, Including $270,000 of War Issue.

Personal property valued at $1,408,544 is listed in the estate of James Harrison Steedman, vice president of the Curtis & Co. Manufacturing Co., who died July 1 last in Santa Barbara, Cal., leaving his entire property to his wife, Mrs. Virginia Chase Steedman, of 42 Westmoreland place. The inventory of the estate was filed in the Probate Court today.

The personal property valuation is obtained by the rapid greying of his hair, which he left the White House. It is now almost a snowy white.

The list shows: Notes, $74,252.89; accounts, $49,782.34; stocks in corporations, $327,007.20; bonds, $955,768.66, including $247,000 in Liberty bonds; cash, $122,965, and chattels, $506.60. The stocks included 972 shares of the Curtis concern, and 1215 shares of the Bucyrus Co., each stock having a par value of $100 a share.

Besides the personal property, real estate in California and Texas was listed, but its value was not shown.

Steedman, who was 64 years old, was a native of St. Louis, and a graduate of the Manual Training School and Washington University. He was an expert mechanical engineer.

He was an officer in the Naval Reserve Corps before the war, being an expert on marine engines. When the United States entered the war, he was commissioned a Lieutenant-Commander in active service, and was assigned to supervising repair and maintenance on ships of the navy.

While serving in this capacity on the U. S. S. Oklahoma, he suffered a breakdown, and did not fully recover his health afterward.

U. S. ADMIRAL HOPES TO FLY HIS FLAG ON HIGH SEA WITH BRITISH Chandler's Farewell Message From Cruiser Olympia to Admiral Browning at Plymouth, Eng.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Rear Admiral Lloyd H. Chandler's farewell message yesterday from the American cruiser Olympia to Admiral Sir Montague Browning, British Commander in Chief at Plymouth, is likely to be much quoted.

"I hope," the message read, "my flag may again be in company with that of the Commander in Chief at Plymouth, not only at his present station, but upon the high seas."

The only occasion on which the flags of the two Admirals could be associated "on the high seas" would be as allies in war. The message does not hint at a common enemy.

RADIUM TO BE SOUGHT IN SEWER

Needles Valued at $10,000 Were Thrown Away by Hospital Patient.

HAMILTON, Ontario, Oct. 25.—Search for radium needles valued at $10,000 will be made in the sewers of the city hospital here today on the arrival of an expert from Pittsburgh, Pa., equipped with a magnetic instrument for attracting radium.

The needles were lost when a patient to whom they had been applied threw them away with bandages in which they had been wrapped.

"BAT" MASTERSON, FORMER TERROR OF "BAD MEN," DIES

In His Prime, He Was Considered the Deadliest Man in America for Stand-Up Gun Fighting.

HE FOUGHT INDIANS, RAN FARO GAMES

His Life Story Is a True Picture of "Wild West—Had Been Sporting Editor in New York in Late Years

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—W. B. (Bat) Mastersen, former Sheriff in the southwest, and in recent years a sporting editor of the Morning Telegraph, died of heart disease while at work at his desk today. He was 66 years old.

Mastersen had an adventurous career. Born in Illinois, he went with his parents to Wichita, Kan., when he was 14 and two years later became a full-fledged buffalo hunter. He fought with Capt. Baldwin's scouts against the Indians in the Battle of Red River and was severely wounded. After the Indian warfare he returned to buffalo hunting.

When barely 21 years old he was elected Sheriff at Dodge City, Kan., and was a terror to "bad men."

Later he moved to Trinidad, Colo., where he became a Marshal. Subsequently he went to Tombstone, Ariz., and thence to Denver and Chicago. He came to New York a number of years ago and became widely known as a writer of sporting articles.

Masteren Considered Deadliest Man at Gun Fighting

In his prime, William Barclay Mastersen, with his soft, round face and gentle manner, was considered quite the deadliest man in America for stand-up gun fighting. Had he cared to commemorate his homicidal achievements in the orthodox way, it is estimated that his pistol handle would have been decorated from 22 to 28 notches. These "funeral" records would have referred to white men only; "Bat" never bothered to keep much count of the Indians, Mexicans and rattlesnakes bumped off by his ready six-shooter.

His life was an embodiment of the "Wild West," which today survives only in motion picture thrillers. He fought Indians under Miles in the Cheyenne country, was a buffalo hunter on the Cinnamon River, ran a faro game in Denver—it was noted that he had an eccentric penchant for a "square game;" held the watch for Jake Kilrain when he fought "Jullian at Riechburg, Miss.; was personal gunner for George Gould, when the millionaire went in fear of a maniac; became a United States Deputy marshal in New York City, thanks to the admiration entertained for him by Theodore Roosevelt.

His turbulent career in quiet, as a sport writer for a New York newspaper.

Sought Adventure in West.

He was born at Middleton, Ill., in 1855, the son of a well-to-do farmer. Agriculture did not appeal to him; neither did schooling. Adventurous lads in those days betook themselves to the West. Young Mastersen drifted into the wilds of Kansas. The admiring chronicles of the time credit him with several vague "killings" before he arrived in Dodge City early in the '70s.

Dodge City was then in the heyday of its glory as a center of the cattle trade. The cowboys ruled the town. When they rode in during the season, all the better class of citizens retired temporarily from active business life. In sheer desperation, the City Council selected "Bat" Mastersen as Town Marshal. His brother, Ed, was Sheriff of the county.

Marshal of Dodge City.

The Town Marshal was the recipient of a surprise party from the opposition. Taking him unaware they locked him in his own jail, and saturated its walls with kerosene. Then they kindly gave him an hour in which to leave town. If he were found among those present at the end of that time he would be made

TAX AMENDMENT REACHES DEALER IN TAX-EXEMPT BONDS

Senate Adopts Hitchcock Proposal Making Interest Paid on Debts Incurred Nondeductable.

PRESENT TAX ON MODERATE INCOME

Action Taken Today Without Record of Vote After Democrats' Effort of Yesterday to Lower Rate.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Without a record vote the Senate today decided to continue the present income tax rates on moderate incomes.

The committee amendment proposing the rates which the Democrats thrice sought to amend yesterday without success was approved within a minute after the Senate met. There was no discussion.

Without a record vote the Senate approved the House proposal increasing from $2000 to $2500 the exemption to heads of families having net incomes of $5000 a year or less.

Also without a record vote the Senate adopted an amendment by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, under which interest paid in 1921 and 1922 on indebtedness approved to purchase or carry tax exempt securities issued by the United States would not be deductible for purposes of determining net income.

The Senate also adopted an amendment by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, under which interest paid on the indebtedness thus incurred, and that received on the securities.

Continuous Session Plan.

Democratic leaders having refused to enter into an agreement for a date for a final vote on the tax revision bill, Republicans went ahead with plans to hold the Senate in continuous session, beginning tomorrow, until the measure is passed.

At conferences today between spokesmen for the majority and minority, the Democrats are understood to have agreed to a limitation of debate, as was done in the case of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary. They said an agreement for a final vote was out of the question as unanimous consent would be refused both by individual Republican and Democratic Senators.

Meantime, the majority has changed its plan as to the method of forcing continuous sessions. Instead of proposing a resolution as announced yesterday they have decided to keep a quorum on hand night and day and thus prevent a recess or adjournment. They think a few days and nights of continuous meeting will force an agreement for a vote.

Three amendments to the normal income tax section of the revenue bill calling for reductions in the taxes on moderate incomes, were voted down yesterday.

Tax Amendments on Moderate Income Defeated Yesterday.

The first tax amendment defeated yesterday was that by Senator Gerry, Democrat, Rhode Island, proposing that the normal tax rate be 2 per cent on the first $5000 of income, 4 per cent on the second $5000, 6 per cent on the third $5000 and 8 per cent on all above $15,000. The vote was 46 to 28. The vote follows:

For the amendment: Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Caraway, Culberson, Gerry, Glass, Hefflin, Hitchcock, Jones (New Mexico), Kendrick, McKellar, Myers, Overman, Owen, Pittman, Pomerene, Randall, Reed, Sheppard, Simmons, Stanley, Underwood, Walsh (Massachusetts), Walsh (Montana), Watson (Georgia), and Williams—26; Republicans—Johnson, La Follette—2.

Against the amendment: Republicans—Borah, Brandegee, Bursum, Cameron, Capper, Crow (Pennsylvania), Curtis, Dillingham, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Harding, Hale, Kellogg, Kenyon, Keyes, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McKinley, McLean, Mc-

CONGRESSMAN WHOSE EXPULSION IS ASKED FOR

THOMAS L. BLANTON

He Declares Texas Congressman Caused Obscene Language to Go Into Record.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Expulsion from the House of Representatives of Representative Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat, was called for in a resolution introduced today by Representative Mondell, the Republican leader.

The ground for the move to expel was publication in the Congressional Record as part of an extension of remarks by Blanton of an affidavit relating to a row at the Government printing office, which affidavit was characterized by some House members as obscene and unfit for transmission through the mails.

In Blanton's absence consideration of the resolution was deferred until Thursday.

Upon the conclusion of the reading of the resolution Mondell announced that Representative Blanton's office had been notified it would be introduced.

"But he did not answer to his name," Mondell said. "Is the gentleman from Texas present?" he asked.

"This is a very serious matter," the Republican leader continued, "but it does not appear to be as seemly to proceed with its consideration in his absence."

Mondell then gave notice that it would be called up tomorrow, but the suggestion of Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, Democratic leader, the time for a vote on the resolution was fixed for noon Thursday.

An announcement was made that the Texas delegation would meet tomorrow to act on the Blanton case. There was a suggestion from some Democrats that the resolution of expulsion be amended to censure only.

Clashes Have Marked His Career. A succession of spectacular clashes on the floor has marked the career of the Texan in the House. Last week, after he had bitterly attacked union railroad men for declaring war on the people of the United States by planning to strike, Representative Burke, Republican, Pennsylvania, formerly an active member of the Conductors' Brotherhood, charged he had made false statements, and in the resultant clash the words "bat" and "dirty dog" were passed.

Representative Blanton has a reputation for demanding more roll calls than any member of the House.

Blanton to Answer Mondell on House Floor Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 25.—When informed here today of the introduction of a resolution calling for his expulsion from the House of Representatives, Representative Blanton said: "I'll be back in the House at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and what I have to say in this matter will be told on the floor."

Blanton, who is to make an address here tonight, declined to comment further on the subject.

ferred, nor was a Blommers beach scene, regarded as the second prize of the auction. A painting, "The Monarchs of the Forest," two stags, by Rosa Bonheur, was placed on sale. An opening bid of $200 did not start it, the announcement being made that it had cost $6000.

The highest price bid was $1050 for a picture by Joseph Jefferson, the actor, by a dealer who was active throughout the sale in running up bids at a faster pace, frequently than asked for by the auctioneer. The highest price paid by a bidder other than this dealer was $500, by H. Worthington Eddy, for a painting of a bowl of flowers by Roby.

A marine water color by W. T. Richards was sold for $250 to Leighton Shields, who said that he represented a client.

Two miniatures of an East Indian King and Queen, said to be the builder of the Taj Mahal and the wife in whose memory it was built, was sold, after spirited bidding, for $350.

A document signed by Napoleon Bonaparte as First Consul of France was sold for $31, and a letter of Lord Nelson, said to have been written with his left hand after he lost his right arm, sold for $20.

Today's auction list included 56 oil and water color paintings and 26 etchings. Bixby has removed more than twice that number of pictures, 67 having been placed in the Forest Park Art Museum as a loan collection, and others having been taken by the Bixby family to its new apartment quarters.

The sale yesterday was attended by several hundred persons. Several hundred others came and went during the day, apparently seeking an opportunity for inspection of a home that for 40 years has stood at one of the most traveled corners in St. Louis.

About half of the 400 objects sold were bric-a-brac, much of it collected by Bixby on tours to various parts of the world. The remainder were house furnishings, including bedroom furniture of a bygone fashion.

tion, rugs, draperies, chairs and electric fixtures, including large brass and silver-finished chandeliers which were sold for only a fraction of their original cost in listless bidding. A page chosen at random from the record of the clerk of the sale showed: Persian rug, $30; bronze statue, $45; glass jewel box, $13; marble statue, $43; its base, $31; four-piece gold parlor suite, $40; miniature oil, $3; teakwood stand, $17.50; mahogany inlaid chair, $13; 16-lamp chandelier, $13; umbrella jar, $9.50; pair of small Tiffany glass vases, $13; ash tray stand, $5; two cushions, $4.50; white bear-skin rug, $12.50; a larger white bear-skin rug, $19.50; mantle clock, $2; plush draperies for two doors and three windows, $130; 18-lamp chandelier with eight three-lamp brackets, $60; bronze statue, "En Triomphe," $95; hall rug, $135; three glasses, $9; carved chair, $18. The highest price paid for a single object was $500 for a cloisonne globe, about two feet in diameter, which, on its teakwood stand, was about five feet above the floor. The globe was sea blue, with golden serpents emblazoned on its lower half. It formed part of the Japanese exhibition at the World's Fair here. A bronze eagle was poised on the top. The name of the purchaser, a woman, was not made known. An 18-inch satsuma vase was sold to H. Worthington Eddy for $33. A royal Vienna vase brought $32. Two royal Sèvres brought approximately $30 each and a museum vase, the choice of the few ceramic art pieces offered, sold for $58.

The remainder of the bric-a-brac was bid in by persons who seemed on a souvenir hunt. A white porcelain cat, life size, brought $13. A marble statue about two feet high sold for $40, while the only base on which it stood brought $42. A red cloisonne vase about eight inches high brought $26. Scores of small pieces in brass, bronze, pottery and china were eagerly bid.

Seven-Piece Set Brings $125. Secondhand dealers and rooming house keepers were the chief contestants for the house furnishings on the upper floors. Most of the those remaining were old, apparently some as old as the house itself. A seven-piece bedroom suite of light oak sold for $125. An extension dining table with places for 14 chairs sold for $10. It was that used by the family. The smaller extension table used by the servants sold for the same price. Three pairs of red plush portiers that apparently had hung in the house for many years, sold for $160. Other portiers, heavy and rich, sold for similar prices. The dining-room chandeliers, a massive brass with 45 lights, sold for $18, and the auctioneer turned from it to a carved wooden head of a grinning monk used as a tobacco jar and sold it for $32.

Many of the persons who went as sight-seers remained for observation of the young auctioneer, whose speech was a torrent of words, each full-round yet tumbling from his mouth at amazing speed. He made stage exhibitions of rapid-fire talk appear almost halting. His was not the "going, going" method. Things were "gone" before many of the slower wits could muster their desires to expression. He inhaled as well as exhaled words seldom devoted more than a moment to any one object.

ENDS LIFE IN DROP OF 240 FEET INTO MINE

Illinois Miner Climbs to Top of Tower and Invites Cager to Witness Plunge.
Herman Ilseman, 40 years old, of Maryville, Ill., a coal miner, ended his life at 6:30 o'clock last night by jumping into a shaft of a mine owned by the Donk Bros. Coal and Coke Co., at Maryville. He plunged 240 feet and was crushed.
Ilseman, who was employed on the day shift but who had not been working for the past week, greeted several night workmen as he approached the mine. He laughingly remarked that they would not see him alive again, but little attention was paid to him. He climbed to the top platform of the cage tower, 65 feet above the ground, and asked George Schneider, the cager, if he had ever seen anyone jump from that height into the mine.
Schneider, who was standing 40 feet away, replied that he had not, and Ilseman said: "Well, you'll have the opportunity now." He then waved to Schneider and jumped into the shaft.
His body landed on the top of a cage at the bottom of the shaft and he was killed instantly. A Coroner's verdict of suicide was returned.
Maryville is midway between Collinsville and Edwardsville. Ilseman was a widower and is survived by two sons, 14 and 16 years old. Friends said that prior to his arrival at the mine last night he had not indicated in any way that he was contemplating ending his life.

Said a Life Insurance Salesman—
"Most heirs are over-confident. They think they know how to invest, but do they? I feel a mixture of satisfaction and uneasiness every time I see a good-sized check go out of our office to a St. Louis widow. She can use it so well if she will, and so much depends on whose advice she takes. The part of the Mercantile Trust Plan which relates to the final disposition of insurance is a good one because it takes the responsibility for the investment of the insurance money away from the widow. It places the task where it belongs—in the experienced hands of your company."

PERMANENT AID FOR FARMERS PROPOSED
Dwight F. Davis, a member of the War Finance Corporation, to Congress recently delegated authority to advance $1,000,000,000 to the United States Farmers of the agricultural banks of the agricultural banks of the United States, at a meeting in St. Louis, Monday of representatives of voluntary agricultural loan agencies for War Finance Corporation, suggest a plan for a permanent Government agency to aid farmers in time of unusual stress such as the present year.
Davis said that to protect farmers, who were least able to carry the burden of low prices of agricultural products, there is a means to tide them over periods of very low prices, and that the agency operating much as the Federal Reserve bank would fill need.
"The farmer usually borrows his seed," Davis said to a Dispatch reporter in explanation of the proposal. "He borrows the seed, to put in his crops and harvest them. As a result, he

PERMANENT AID FOR FARMERS PROPOSED

Delight F. Davis Presents Plans for U. S. Agency to Rediscunt Small Loans.

Delight F. Davis, a member of the War Finance Corporation, to which Congress recently delegated authority to advance $1,000,000,000 to the farmers of the United States through the banks of the agricultural districts at a meeting in St. Louis yesterday of representatives of volunteer agricultural loan agencies for the War Finance Corporation, suggested a plan for a permanent Government agency to aid farmers in times of unusual stress such as the present year.

Davis said that to protect the farmers, who were least able to carry the burden of low prices for agricultural products, there should be means to tide them over periods of very low prices, and that an agency operating much as the Federal reserve bank would fill the need.

"The farmer usually borrows to buy his seed," Davis said to a Post-Dispatch reporter in explanation of the proposal. "He borrows to till the fields to put in his crops and to harvest them. As a result, he is in debt for his crop several months before it is produced.

Prices Forced Down.

"The lenders are anxious for the return of their money, and the farmers are required to dump their products on the market at one time. This is true of nearly all crops. The result is that prices are forced down."

"The small banks in the agricultural districts, with some exceptions, are not members of the Federal reserve system, and even if they were this agricultural paper could not be rediscouted to do much good, as the rediscout is limited to three months, or six months at the most. With their limited capital the country banks cannot carry the agricultural papers for more than a few months."

"The War Finance Corporation has been given temporary authority to handle the situation, but that authority will expire in July, 1932. By that time Congress should make a permanent arrangement. The matter is not entirely in the interest of the farmer, it is in the interest of the whole country."

"At the present time we find the livestock growers of the West forced to sell young cattle and their breeding herds to meet their obligations and cattle prices have dropped. It has been necessary for them to sell many more cattle to obtain a given sum than under high prices. The effects of this is to deplete the herds and to menace the meat supply of the country for the future."

Agency Merely Suggested.

"We are suggesting this idea to the agricultural loan agencies for them to consider, and to take over with the people of their districts. It is merely a suggestion for public consideration. If there was an agency which could rediscout the agricultural paper for the small banks, the farmer could hold his products and market them from month to month, instead of all at one time."

At yesterday's meeting a committee of Missouri bankers from the agricultural districts heard the suggestion. Today it is being presented to bankers from Louisville, Memphis and Little Rock.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls of Multified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multified coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Be sure your druggist gives you Multified.

SECOND MAN ENTERS LONG ISLAND MYSTERY

Theory Advanced Two Had Part in Dismembering Body Found in Pond.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A second man entered today the mystery surrounding the murder of the young woman whose dismembered body was found Saturday in a pond at Long Island City.

Det. officers working on the case advanced the theory that two men took part in dismembering the body, when the officers discovered that two shirts found wrapped about the mutilated form were of different sizes and bore different laundry marks. This theory was strengthened when a package containing a woman's blue serge suit, now believed to have been worn by the victim, was turned over to them. The discoverer of the package, a young woman, said she had seen two men throw it from an automobile near her home Saturday afternoon. The clothing was of a size that would fit the slain woman, and efforts are being made to trace it in an effort to establish her identity.

Two women of many who visited the morgue yesterday declared the body was that of a missing sister, but in both cases the women were proved mistaken, as they described peculiarities of their missing relative which the body did not bear.

WOMAN HIT BY AUTO TRUCK

Mrs. Anna Lonsford Injured After Alighting From Car.

Mrs. Anna Lonsford, 49 years old, of 3315 Franklin avenue, a widow, suffered a fractured left leg and cuts and bruises yesterday when knocked down by an automobile truck, driven by Oscar Peterson of East St. Louis, after she had alighted from a street car at High street and Franklin avenue. The chauffeur told the police he had stopped behind the car and started when it started. The woman, he said, started to cross behind the car and on seeing the truck grabbed the fenders and was knocked down.

Walter Fisher, 14, of 2347 Leonard street suffered scalp wounds and cuts and bruises yesterday when knocked from a bicycle in collision with an automobile driven by Frank Biesel of 119 North Ninth street at Twelfth and Locust streets. He was taken to the city hospital.

NEGRO SHOT AND BURNED

Alleged Slayer of White Farmer Taken From South Carolina Sheriff.

By the Associated Press.
ALLENTOWN, S. C., Oct. 25.—Ed Kirkland, a negro who was under arrest charged with having killed Eugene P. Walker of Appleton, was taken from custody yesterday by a mob and lynched.

The negro was discovered on the platform of a coach of the train on which Sheriff Bennett was attempting to take him to Columbia for safekeeping and was shot down, it was said, when he tried to escape. The wounded man was taken in an automobile to Appleton, where the mob dispersed, leaving the body in the car. Later, however, the same or another crowd gathered and burned the body. Whether Kirkland was still alive when the crowd returned could not be learned. Kirkland was alleged to have shot Walker, a white farmer, yesterday in an altercation over rent.

ROBBERS GET 4 BAGS OF WALL STREET MAIL

Three Men in Auto Hold Up Driver in Lower Broadway; Value Put at $100,000 to Million.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Three robbers in an automobile, who held up a United States mail truck in lower Broadway late last night, escaping with four pouches of registered mail, are being sought by the police and postoffice inspectors today.

Postal authorities say they are unable to fix the value of the stolen mail, much of which had originated in the Wall street district. One of the inspectors on the case, however, is reported to have told city detectives the pouches contained about $1,000,000 in money and negotiable paper. Other estimates fix the value of the haul around $100,000.

Frank Haverack, driver of the truck, is being detained by the police to look over suspects expected to be brought in as the result of a city-wide alarm, sounded a half hour after the holdup.

Haverack told the police he had proceeded only a few blocks on his run from the City Hall Station to the general Postoffice, opposite the Pennsylvania Terminal, when a green touring car bearing three men overtook him. Two stood on the running board with pistols, which they leveled at him, with the command to slow down.

When he complied, Haverack said, he was ordered to turn into Leonard street and stop. The bandits then dragged him from his seat and forced him to give up the key to the truck gates.

While one covered him with a pistol, Haverack said, the others climbed inside the truck, selected four pouches from the load of 17 and threw them into the touring car.

Then the trio tumbled into the car and sped away, first warning Haverack not to follow. As soon as they had turned a corner Haverack started his truck in pursuit, but the green car had disappeared, and he reported the holdup to the police.

RECEPTION TO CZECHO-SLOVAKS

Former Residents of That Country Welcomed at Public Library.

A reception was given to the Czecho-Slovak citizens of St. Louis yesterday at the Public Library, at which Dr. Arthur E. Postwick, librarian, welcomed the Czecho-Slovaks and called their attention to the literature in foreign languages on the library shelves.

Dr. C. Simr, Vice Consul of Czecho-Slovakia in St. Louis, responded on behalf of his people and described the heroic campaign of the Czecho-Slovaks in the world war. Moving pictures of Prague, capital of Czecho-Slovakia, and of the march of the Czecho-Slovak Legion through Siberia were shown, and national songs were sung by a quartet.

FULL LEGAL STATUS FOR BEER AS MEDICINE

Announcement of Regulations by Treasury Department Comes as Surprise to Dry Leaders.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Beer, as a medicine, enjoys a full legal status today, through the unexpected action of the Treasury Department in promulgating regulations permitting its use for that purpose.

Issued in accordance with an opinion submitted by former Attorney-General Palmer last March 7, holding the medicinal use of beer to be legal under the prohibition laws, and after being withheld since then, in anticipation of early action by Congress on the pending anti-beer measure, announcement of the beer regulations came as a complete surprise to prohibition leaders.

In making known their promulgation, Secretary Mellon declared the department was "unable to withhold the regulations longer in view of the plain legal rights of the parties concerned."

Predicting an immediate reaction to the Treasury's announcement in the direction of increased pressure to effect enactment of the anti-beer bill, dry advocates in and out of Congress did not conceal their disapproval of the department's action. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, described it as "less defensible than at any other time," while Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, joint author of the anti-beer bill, characterized it as "an outrageous, utterly indefensible."

While the new rules, covering comprehensively the use of wine and spirituous liquors as medicines, as well as beer, fix a limit of two and one-half gallons, the equivalent of the case, on the amount of beer that may be prescribed to the same person at one time, no arbitrary limit is placed

NEGRO, UNDER SUSPICION, TARRED AND FEATHERED AT ELGIN, ILL.

Youth Suspected of Attacking Girl
Taken From Auto and Covered by Party of 30 Men.

By the Associated Press.
ELGIN, Ill., Oct. 22.—Preston Johnson, 16 years old, a negro, who had been under suspicion of attacking a 13-year-old white girl, is in a serious condition today as the result of a tar and feather party Sunday night, in which 30 Elgin men are said to have participated. Physicians attending Johnson state that the shock of the incident, have made him critically ill.

According to the best information available, Johnson was riding in an automobile with two friends Sunday evening. The car was stopped just west of town, where the tar heaters of a street repair company had been left. Johnson was removed from the automobile, forced to disrobe and was given a coating of hot tar, into which feathers were smothered.

Johnson says he was told to leave town and not come back. A taxicab was called and Johnson sent back into town.

on the number of prescriptions one person may obtain within a given period. Except that the amount for a single prescription is limited to two quarts, the wine regulations are the same, while spirituous liquors are limited to one pint within any 10-day period.

Busch Says Application for Beer
Permit Was Filed Last March.

August A. Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., said today that the company filed an application last March for a permit to manufacture and distribute medicinal beer. He said the company would be prepared, as soon as a permit is obtained, to supply the demand for medicinal beer, however large it may be.

C. Norman Jones, former manager of the St. Louis Brewing Association, said he doubted whether the prescription demand for beer would amount to much, compared with the capacity of a large brewing plant.

SURGEON SAYS RADIUM AS CURE FOR CANCER HAS FAILED

Dr. John B. Deaver Tells, Clinical Congress Pennsylvania Led Last Year in Hospital Improvement.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 22.—Dr. John B. Deaver of Philadelphia, who was installed as president of the American College of Surgeons last night, declared before the convention of the College that radium as a remedy for the relief or cure of cancer had failed.

"Radium as the ultimate relief of cancer, has failed and fallen short as a cure," he said.

Pennsylvania led the country in the improvement of its hospital service in 1933, according to a report submitted to the convention yesterday. Dr. Franklin H. Martin, secretary-general of the organization, who prepared the report, said it showed a marked improvement in hospital service the country over, from all parts of the United States and many from South American and European countries attended the opening sessions yesterday. Among them were the regents of the Royal College of Surgeons of Ireland, who came to the convention to confer honorary fellowship on nine American surgeons. Those to be thus honored are Dr. George E. Brewer, New York; Dr. George W. Crile, Cleveland; Dr. John M. T. Finney, Baltimore; Dr. Robert J. Ochsner, Chicago; Dr. Charles H. Mayo and Dr. William J. Mayo, Rochester, Minn.; and Dr. Deaver, Dr. Richard M. Harte and Dr. W. W. Heen, all of Philadelphia.

He was born at Eastport, Me., 61 years ago.

A 50¢ jar of "After-Cream" with every 60c bottle of Odorono!

The famous perspiration corrective and a delightful new cream—both for the price of one—for one week only

To introduce the new After-Cream, the St. Louis drug and department stores listed below are featuring this week a double value toilet offer that no woman—or man—who courts complete personal daintiness should miss.

Now the autumn season, with its warmer clothing and heated houses, brings a real need for protecting the new gowns and blouses from perspiration moisture and stain; from its lingering, repellent odor.

Perspiration seems to have an affinity for silks and serges—materials that are not washable. And dry cleaning cannot destroy its odor or remove its stain.

This protection means economy and freedom from dress shields

One 60c bottle of Odorono will insure six months' protection of clothing—in itself no mean economy—and gives freedom from the use of dress shields.

Odorono is now the underarm toilette of more than a million people who realize the subtle danger of offending with perspiration odor and moisture, which the most immaculate "soap-and-water" cleanliness cannot reach.

Odorono is an antiseptic harmless toilet water, endorsed by physicians and used in hospitals. Used regularly twice a week it assures you perfect daintiness and insures protection for your clothing.

The new Odorono After-Cream

Daintily fragrant, Odorono After-Cream softens, soothes and beautifies the skin, and is altogether delightful to use. Because of its absolute purity, it is especially adapted for use after Odorono or Depilatory. It is also delightful after shaving and fills every need for a delicate cold cream for complexion and general toilet use.

Every lover of daintiness will find in Odorono After-Cream a valuable aid to preserving that clear, soft texture of the skin so admired. Its formula has been so perfected that it does not cause unsightly growth of hair.

Odorono and After-Cream are unfailing sources of complete personal daintiness. This week brings you an unusual offer to get a new supply of both for the price of one. Don't miss this special offer! It closes October 31st.

DEAN OF COMEDIANS HAS CLEVER SKETCH

Orpheum Theater Bill Exploits Old-Time Favorites and New-comers in Vaudeville.

William H. Crane, dean of legitimate comedians on the American stage, who made his first bow to the public a year before Lee surrendered to Grant, is now, at the age of 76, making his first essay in vaudeville. He has headline honors on the Orpheum bill this week in a playlet by George Ade, "The Mayor and the Manicure." His appearance in this new field follows almost 10 years of retirement. Those who remember "Father and the Boys," a George Ade play in which Crane appeared from 1907 to 1919, will recognize in the present offering a tabloid presentation of the essential motive of that play. Here again we have the worldly-wise father who sowed and harvested his wild oats long ago, but still is "one of the boys" in spirit, broadly tolerant of the mistakes of youth and ready to stand by his offspring and defend them against all comers.

Crane appears as Otis Milford, Mayor of a city and owner of all its public utilities. To him comes a woman blackmailer who asserts that she has a claim for heart damages against his son, Wallie, who has been away at college. There is another girl to whom Wallie is engaged. The veteran comedian, who is vigorous and still in fine voice, puts fine shading on the development of the Mayor's plan to save his son from the scheming blackmailer. While he is thinking out his means for thwarting her he is seemingly yielding and compliant, but when the time comes to strike, the claws of the tiger fighting for its young are unheated and the blackmailer is glad to escape with her freedom and a money gift to soothe her injured feelings. Crane is well supported by Paul Willis as the son, Grace Goodall as the blackmailer and Marie Ellne as the bride-to-be. Just by way of showing that while age may be honored, youth will be served, Crane's offering is followed on the bill by that captivating pair of youngsters who cloak their sinister identity under the stage names "Tempest and Sunshine."

If there is a daintier or cleaner-cut act on the "big time" circuit this season it has not yet reached St. Louis. Miss Tempest in her masculine garb is the last word in "smartness."

An old favorite who comes back to a warm welcome is Walter Kelly, "The Virginian Judge" and still another is Al Lydell in his never old character study of the peppy Grand Army veteran. Carleton Macy is a good foil as the retired sea captain. Jay Dillon and Betty Parker have a better than average music and dancing act in which they are assisted by Viola Allen, a youthful and beautiful violinist.

Bank Robbers Got 500 Pennies.

By the Associated Press.
SEMINARY, Miss., Oct. 25.—An attempt was made Sunday morning to rob the bank of Seminary. The lock on the safe door was burned through with an acetylene torch, but the robbers were not able to get into the safe where the funds of the bank are kept. It is understood that the robbers got only $5 in pennies.

33 1-3 INCREASE IN TEACHERS' PAY AT 428 HIGH SCHOOLS

Survey by State Superintendent Shows 31 1-6 Per Cent Advance for Grade School Teachers.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 25.—Salaries of high school teachers in 428 of the approximately 600 high schools of Missouri have been increased 33 1-3 per cent this year over last and those of the grade schools in the same 428 communities have been increased 31 1-6 per cent, according to a survey completed by State Superintendent of Schools Sam Baker.

Baker's survey indicates that in the 428 high schools the average salary paid last year was $925.84, while this year it will be $1215.79, and that in those grade schools the average last year was $569.45 and this year $746.83. The total paid to high school teachers in the 428 communities last year was $396,263 and this year will be $520,362, while the grade teachers got $243,727 last year and will get $319,547 this year.

The especially pleasing thing about this showing to educational authorities is the size of the increases given to grade school teachers, whose salaries have, for the most part, been very low.

Baker's figures do not include the salaries of superintendents.

The Patent Office Story of the New Improved Gillette

WHEN the patents on the original Gillette Safety Razor were granted by the U. S. Patent Office, there could not be found one single example of a safety razor using a flexible blade.

Once the Gillette principle was established—what happened?

Hundreds of other safety razors followed in a procession to the Patent Office.

One would naturally suppose that every useful form of razor had been discovered.

Yet, on January 13, 1920, the Gillette Safety Razor Company was granted a patent broadly covering the New Improved Gillette, of which the patentable features are as important and as revolutionary as those of the original Gillette.

But a still greater award than that of the Patent Office has been granted by the men who have shaved with the New Improved Gillette and have given it their positive approval as the most perfect shaving instrument ever produced.

On May 16th last, the New Improved Gillette was put on sale.

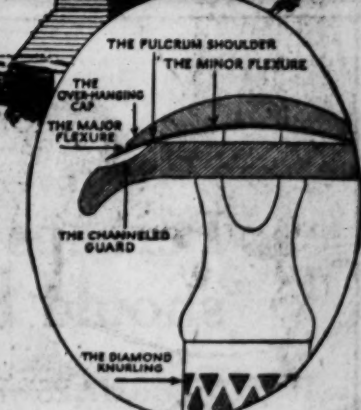

Already more than 600,000 men in America have bought New Improved Gillettes. While England, France, Holland, Belgium, Denmark and Italy took 335,000 in the month of August alone.

Important about the New Improved Gillette—A Word about the Blades

Most men prefer to screw the razor up tight to get the most satisfactory shave.

Gillette deems it proper to ask the public to use Gillette Blades only in genuine Gillette Razors.

The Gillette Blade and Razor are developed to work together. No Gillette Blade can deliver its full shaving quality unless used in a genuine Gillette Razor—built by Gillette, in the Gillette way and up to Gillette standards.

The New Improved GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR

Uses the same fine Gillette Blades as you have known for years—but now your Blades can give you all the luxury of the finest shaving edge in the world.

VERDICT IN CASE OF MAN SHOT AT CAIRO

Ammann Testifies He Never saw Man Who Was Mistaken for Him.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CAIRO, Ill., Oct. 25.—A Coroner's jury last night returned a verdict that the unidentified man who was shot dead, shot through the head, in the Mississippi River bank at the developed end of the town, last night, met death at the hands of a person unknown. It could not be determined whether the man had lived his life or was murdered.

Dr. Edgar W. Ammann of 5953 Mississippi boulevard, St. Louis, who arrived yesterday from New Madrid, Mo., with Coroner E. A. Ammann, to testify at the inquest, because his houseboat and motor boat had been near the scene of the man's death, was questioned briefly and asked, Dr. Ammann and the par- ty men and women with him left on Friday morning, at the time a shot was heard on bank, with the intention of going to New Orleans by river. The man is presumed to have been the man which the man was killed.

Testimony of Dr. Ammann.

Dr. Ammann said he had never seen the dead man and that he had not shot at him as he left here Friday. He is planned to rejoin his party at New Madrid. The dead man's identity remains a mystery.

Thousands of persons from St. Louis, Missouri and Kentucky have been in the city. He had been identified as Dr. Ammann until Dr. Ammann's friend, Dr. James Stewart of St. Louis, arrived Saturday night and shared otherwise. Dr. Stewart de- parted for St. Louis last night.

Dr. Ammann was told exclusively in yester- day's Post-Dispatch, Coroner Burke of Dr. Stewart left here Sunday in motor boat and followed Dr. Ammann down the Mississippi, overtak- ing him at Cates Landing, Tenn., getting traces of him at Hick- ings, Ky., where he had stopped Sat- urday. The Coroner had sent word authorities in river towns as far as Memphis, Tenn., to watch for the man and detain Dr. Ammann. Cates Landing is 30 miles below here, and New Madrid, where the two parties met, 20 miles farther.

Decided to Take Vacation.

Dr. Ammann, who is 40 years old, married and has a 13-year-old daughter. He has not practiced medicine for years, but has been of- ficially manager for the Philip A. Ro- bert, Boat, Boiler and Tank Co., St. Louis, which has been closed tem- porarily. He has owned the Pa- rade motor boat, for some time, and the houseboat is a rough, two- cabin built on a hull intended as a landing stage for the motor boat. He suddenly decided to take a vacation trip to New Orleans, he said, and a dispatch reporter here, assembled a party.

He drove to Cairo in his machine and he said, "accompanied by Dr. Berry of 3508 Lindell avenue, St. Louis. We met my friends, Mrs. Mann of 2542 A. Dodder, St. Louis, and her daughter, Miss Mannell, and stepdaughter, Miss Mannell, here. We stayed at the hotel until the boats arrived, Oct. 24. The boats left St. Louis the day after I did. Mrs. Mannell's hus- band, her stepson, Jack, a man I saw slightly named Fred Weber a friend of his named Conney, and them down.

They telephoned me from Cape Girardeau that they were stuck on the river, so I told them to get on to bring them the rest of way. They didn't know much navigation. They got a youth and Norman Kimbel. He and Conney disappeared. The boats reached here. None of them answers the description of dead man.

Never Saw Dead Man.

All of us who were at the hotel to stay on the houseboat when we arrived. We left about 9:30 last morning. The only shots we heard were Thursday night, and a hunter fired them. I never saw the dead man. I will join my party again, but I don't think we beyond Memphis. I'll sell the boats there and drive my car home."

INGROWN NAILS

Toe Nail Turns Out Itself if you Toughen the Skin

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic preparation for chilopodias. How-

WOMAN PHYSICIAN DISCUSSES NEED OF SOCIAL HYGIENE

Dr. Valeria H. Parker, Member of Federal Board, Addresses Town Club on Subject.

The need of a peace-time social hygiene program, participated in by all thinking citizens, similar to that which was carried out in and about army cantonments in the war period, was urged by Dr. Valeria H. Parker, executive secretary of the United States Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board, in a luncheon address at the Town Club yesterday.

Dr. Parker, whose home is in Hartford, Conn., is the first woman ever appointed to an executive position on this Government board. The distinction was conferred upon her in recognition of her many years of activity in social hygiene work. The board comprises the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Treasury and the Surgeon-General of the Public Health Service, army and navy.

Education in the home, school and church that will safeguard the morals of boys and girls and wholesome recreation that will keep young people from seeking unwholesome forms of recreation were urged by Dr. Parker as the two big features of the social hygiene program. She also advocated the employment of police-women of the highest type.

MRS. SOUTHARD DENIES GIVING MEYER POISON

By the Associated Press.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 23.—With eyes fixed directly upon the jury and a voice barely audible beyond range of the attorneys, Lyda Meyer Southard today on the witness stand told her story of the death of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer. She is charged with murdering him.

The calling of the defendant came as a complete surprise. A special recess of 10 minutes was asked for by the attorneys for the defense for the purpose of conference. A witness previously asked for was being sought by the bailiffs. At the close of the recess announcement was made that this particular witness was not then required.

"Call your next witness," directed the Court. At a word from counsel Mrs. Southard got up and walked to the witness stand.

Mrs. Southard detailed the final illness of Meyer up to the time of his death. She admitted buying two packages of insect exterminator at a certain drug store, and denied that she had purchased more than that. She declared that her husband was taken to the Twin Falls County Hospital, and that he was not noticeably ill during the trip. Asked directly if she had ever administered poison to Edward F. Meyer, she replied:

"I did not—no, I did not."

Defendant's Father Told Yesterday of Having Body Examined.

That W. J. Trueblood, father of Mrs. Southard, ordered a thorough examination of the remains of Meyer, to satisfy himself of the cause of death, was brought out yesterday afternoon in examination of Trueblood on the witness stand for the defense.

Trueblood underwent a grilling cross-examination at the hands of the prosecution. He testified to the effect that his daughter, the defendant, had told him on the day of Edward Meyer's funeral that she knew nothing of any life insurance carried by Meyer, but later the same day an examination of Meyer's papers led to the discovery of a receipt for a premium paid to a life insurance company. He declared he advised his daughter that, inasmuch as she had been married to Meyer but a short time, the parents of Meyer should share in whatever estate Meyer left, and that, as a result of this advice, the defendant had given the premium receipt to a sister of Meyer with the understanding that if the insurance were collected the sister might retain half.

The witness admitted that friends had told him of rumors of foul play in connection with Meyer's death.

but he stuck to his statement that he had no ulterior motive in advising that his daughter accept but half the estate, including the insurance money, in the event that this was collectible.

Cross-examination also developed that, in the case of the death of Gordon McHaffie in Hardin, Mont., in 1915, Trueblood went to Hardin in response to a telegram and personally paid the expense of shipping the remains to Twin Falls.

WILSON'S OPINIONS QUOTED, IN HIS OWN WORDS, ON WAR CRISES WHICH STIRRED AND PUZZLED THE AMERICAN PUBLIC

Incidents which for years have been shrouded in mystery now explained by the one man who was always behind the scenes—first as Secretary to the Governor of New Jersey, then as Secretary to the President at Washington.

For the Information of the Public

Because of the general railroad strike threatened by various labor organizations the management of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas lines has addressed the following statement to its employees:

To All Employees:

Uninterrupted transportation service is of paramount importance. Railroad employees and railroad management are alike under obligation to protect the public against interruptions in service. To the end that there be no misunderstanding of the policies of the M., K. & T. lines, consideration of the following statement is requested:

There will be no reduction in the wages, or changes in the working conditions, of any employees of the M., K. & T. lines coming under the jurisdiction of the United States Railroad Labor Board without the approval of that body.

The management of the M., K. & T. lines has complied with every order or ruling made by the Labor Board since its organization. In the face of a deficit, the M., K. & T. complied with the decision of the Labor Board that wages should be increased approximately 22%, effective May 1, 1920, and under this decision the wages of M., K. & T. employees were increased approximately $7,000,000.00 per annum. Despite further deficits in income, the wage rates so established were continued in effect until July 1, 1921, when a reduction of less than 12% in wages was authorized by the Labor Board.

As instances have arisen in which the employees and the management were unable to agree as to the interpretation and application of certain rules carried forward from Government control, differences have been submitted to the Labor Board and its rulings complied with. There will be no change in this policy. The M., K. & T. lines will continue to comply with the provisions of the Transportation Act and the rulings of the Labor Board in order that disagreements with employees, which might threaten interruption of transportation service, may be peaceably and fairly adjusted after consideration of every public and private interest.

Support of these policies by M., K. & T. employees is essential to the discharge of the joint obligation of the employees and the management to provide the public with uninterrupted transportation service. We, therefore, urge all patriotic employees to remain at their posts. Duty to the public, loyalty to the Government as citizens and their personal and family interest demand that they shall join the management in reliance upon orderly procedure and legal agencies to make them secure in their rights.

"LOUD SPEAKER" SUCCESS IN MUNICIPAL THEATER

Mayor Discusses Possibilities of Telephonic Amplifier for Civic Entertainments.

Future use of the "loud speaker" in connection with the Municipal Opera and other productions in the Municipal Theater was discussed by Mayor Kiel and officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. at yesterday afternoon's demonstration of the "loud speaker," which was given in the theater. A simultaneous demonstration was given on the Forest Park drill ground, where three large sound projectors, about 12 feet from the ground, were connected by wire with the theater stage.

In the demonstration at the theater the receiving apparatus was a small box on the speaker's stand, and it was not necessary to talk directly into this box, as it caught the speaker's words and the singers' notes, giving them the ordinary freedom of movement.

The Mayor suggested that similar receiving apparatus could be placed on the scenery, or at the footlights, for productions of drama and opera. With this accessory no one in the audience would have any difficulty in hearing the lines of the weakest-voiced soubrette, and the present obstacle to nonmusical productions in the Municipal Theater would disappear. The use of the Art Hill amphitheater for unusually large gatherings would also be made practicable.

The audience was made up of delegates to the convention of the Telephone Pioneers of America, of teachers and students of universities and high schools, and the general public. The theater was nearly filled. The seats most in demand were those at the top, including those at the extreme distance from the stage, which are free in the case of pay productions.

A structure erected on the stage supported and concealed the six large horns, or sound projectors, which were upon an arch over the heads of the speakers and singers, and which sent their tones to the audience.

W. D. Pomeroy of New York made the preliminary explanations and tests, and turned the sound amplifiers off at times, while he was speaking. With the apparatus in use his voice was robust and commanding in everyone's ears. With the apparatus shut off the same voice became far-off and uncertain, and the audience had the familiar and uncomfortable sensation of straining to catch the sound. "Louder," the audience would call at such times, and the speaker would then switch on the amplifiers again, and send his tones booming up the hill.

At the drill ground, a small gathering sat or stood near the sound projectors, and as the program proceeded, some of the listeners moved farther away. They found they could hear easily at a distance of 500 feet. The players on the tennis courts, at the other side of the drill ground, stopped to hear the speaking and singing.

Refuses to Review Conviction.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The Supreme Court yesterday refused a petition of A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert, as president and manager, respectively, of the National Non-Partisan League, for review of their conviction before Minnesota courts on charged growing out of their alleged activities in opposition to the nation's war activities. The petition sought from the Court a writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court of Minnesota, which would have ordered all the papers in the cases here for review.

FIVE POST-DISPATCH MEN CALLED AT ONCE FOR JURY DUTY

Staff Normally Should Furnish One For 1000 Called But Freak of Chance Makes It One in 240.

A freak of chance, in the working of the wheel by which jurors are selected for the Civil and Criminal courts, came to notice yesterday, when five members of the news staff of the Post-Dispatch were summoned for jury duty.

The total number of men summoned to report in all the courts yesterday was about 1200. The Post-Dispatch editorial, news and art staff contains 44 men living in the city, and thus eligible for jury duty, and the total number of eligible jurors throughout the city is 44,000.

It thus appears that, while the Post-Dispatch editorial department has only 1-1000 of the eligible jurors, it furnished 1-240th of the number of men called yesterday.

At the Jury Commissioner's office, where jurors are selected, it was said that the matter was purely one of chance, and that odd coincidences sometimes occur, in the drawing of a disproportionate number from some one business establishment. In such a case, it is left to the Judges to remedy the matter by excusing some of the men.

The 44,000 names on slips of paper are all placed in the jury wheel, the wheel having been filled Oct. 1. They are drawn in such number as needed for each term of court. The names are originally listed in alphabetical order, and are not grouped by places of employment.

Mr. A. P. Johnson, Publisher of the News, Grand Rapids, Michigan, in his issue of Oct. 13 prints the following:

PRODUCTIVE ADVERTISING

There are three "Bewares" in the primer of every editor, reporter and aspiring newspaper worker. Where they came from we don't know and we know less of what they mean to convey. They are, "Beware of religion; beware of saying anything good about big corporations; beware of mentioning advertisers except when they pay for it." Readers of this newspaper know where it stands on religion and corporations. We are for them when they do more good than harm. We oppose them when they oppose human progress and retard human happiness.

This is about both a corporation and an advertiser—a big advertiser, the Standard Oil Company. A great change has come over the Standard Oil Company in recent years. It is no longer afraid of its own shadow. It is no longer afraid to tell you what its business methods are, what its products are and what it hopes to do. The story is being told in friendly and unfriendly papers without fear or favor, embarrassment or compensation in paid advertising space.

Of course a newspaper would naturally agree to this method of publicity. But we are not thinking of the dollars just now. We are thinking of how much further we would have progressed in the solution of many of our economic and industrial difficulties if more light had been thrown upon the inner workings of the offensives and defenses in such disputes as involve the public at large.

The series of advertisements which have been and are being published by the Standard Oil Company have become economic arguments which carry a message. We are not so pleased with them but what we realize that they put the company's best foot forward. To what extent they have sold gasoline is a matter for their advertising department to decide, but it is certain that they have sold to the public a large measure of good will which the Standard Oil Company did not possess not so very long ago.

Having committed this breach of saying something good about an advertiser, we will now shut our eyes and wait for the catastrophe that is bound to occur according to the law of primal journalism.

THE above editorial is refreshing to those who are responsible for the policies of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

When in October, 1918, the present management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) took charge of the business, one of the first things it decided was that the public should be given intimate information regarding the Company and its affairs. Those responsible for the management knew that the policies that had animated this organization for many years were policies which benefitted stockholders, employees, and the public, and that these policies could not but meet the approval of the people generally, for they were based on fair dealing, justice and equity.

The result of this decision was the authorization of a widespread publicity campaign, which has been carried on for about three years, and the proof of its effectiveness is to be seen not only in the not infrequent mention being made by the newspapers of the country in editorials such as the one written by Mr. Johnson, quoted above, but in the better understanding on the part of the public of what the Company is trying to do.

The basic principle upon which the business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is built is to provide the individual, wherever he may live in the 11 states served by this Company, with such products of petroleum as he may need, and to get them to him when he wants them and at a price which is fair alike to the stockholders, the public, and the competitor.

Comedy and pathos, haym and love-laps, cheers and rounded out a variety boxing gram at the First Regiment Armory last night, where a crowd of cash customers, undiluted by literature hounds, sat through gamut of ring thrills.

Beginning with the fifty point-scoring bout in which the Kid Newton of Staunton showed fine brand of skill in beating King, the spectators laughed at the cave-man battle of Banker and Henry Malcor, had their heads knocked wallops when Jerabek flattened Otis Bryant first round and deeply sympathized with Jimmy Kerna of East St. Jimmy, just as he was making fight against Joe McMillen, on the fourth metacarpal bone of right hand and gamely remain take a beating without hope of aing or even of protecting him. Hand Broken in 3d Round, Kerns Lasts the Limit

East St. Louis Boxer Holds His Own With McMillen Until Mishap Occurs.

Official Decisions in Armory Bouts

Joe McMillen (McMillen), St. Louis, defeated Jimmy Kerns (Tommy Friel) of East St. Louis in 13 rounds, 133 pounds. Kerns broke a metacarpal bone early in the bout.

Charles Jernbek, St. Louis, knocked out Otis Bryant, Sikeston, in 42 seconds. Weight, 150 pounds.

Banker Johnny Kerns, St. Louis, and Henry Malcor, Carlinville, fought 10 rounds to draw, a decision the crowd loudly disapproved. Weight, 150 pounds.

Kid Newton of Staunton outpointed Morris King, St. Louis, four rounds; 108 pounds.

By John E. Wray.

Comedy and pathos, haymakers and lovepats, cheers and jeers rounded out a variety boxing program at the First Regiment Armory last night, where a crowd of 3000 cash customers, undisturbed by free literature hounds, sat through the gamut of ring thrills.

Beginning with the fifty little point-scoring bout in which the frail Kid Newton of Staunton showed a fine brand of skill in beating Morris King, the spectators laughed through the cave-man battle of Banker Kerns and Henry Malcor, but their lust for knockout wallop satiated when Sallor Jernbek flattened Otis Bryant in the first round and deeply sympathized with Jimmy Kerns of East St. Louis, Jimmy, just as he was making a fine fight against Joe McMillen, snapped the fourth metacarpal bone of his right hand and gamely remained to take a beating without hope of winning or even of protecting himself.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the evening was the unanimous passing given Referee Leo Shea when he ruled that Banker Johnny Kerns had gained a draw with Henry Malcor, the second event on the program.

The appearance of the principals in this event made the spectators sit tight. It was between Banker Kerns and Henry Malcor, a slight for the cynical. In wonderful condition, beautifully built and with the look of a courageous thoroughbred in his eye, when he stood up waiting for the opening bell, Kerns was the admiration of the crowd, a dark and smiling Nemesis, almost bearded as shoulder and chest, so heavily was the hair matted, powerful of shoulder, deep of chest, a real cave man, was Kerns.

Kerns Starts Well.
The ferocious aspect of the "Banker" created a respect in Malcor's bosom that proved to be well founded. Kerns, lacking the condition of his foe, stepped slowly around, conserving his wind, hitting rarely and missing mostly. But when he landed, oh, man! the hall rang with his left and right. Kerns, in the first round, Malcor danced out of range the rest of the period, with Kerns' haymakers hissing viciously against his head.

In the second round Malcor failed to evade a right hand which hit him fairly in the body and drove the Carlinville Adonis several steps back and to the canvas. He managed to get together and despite a vicious storm of blows from the "cave man" Malcor put on by the "cave man" Malcor was there and coming back fighting when the bell rang.

That ended Kerns' chance to win. The wonderful condition of his foe began to tell. Malcor began to box more confidently, jabbing Kerns all over the ring. The cave man walked in taking the blows of his foe, and his head, leaving the impression that blocking enemy leads with his brow had led to his premature kindness.

Kern Scores Knockdown.
In the fifth round Kerns spilled Malcor again, but he was up in a moment and carried the battle to his foe. He floored the banker, but Kerns was not finished. He had shot his bolt, however, and for the rest of the bout Malcor, fighting carefully, like a man doing a hard rope act with a bottle of nitroglycerin balanced on his nose, widely disappointed his tired and heavily breathing foe.

Referee Leo Shea, in token of a draw, put up both hands. The crowd also threw up its hands. Likewise it lifted its voice. The soprano of women objectors made it unanimous.

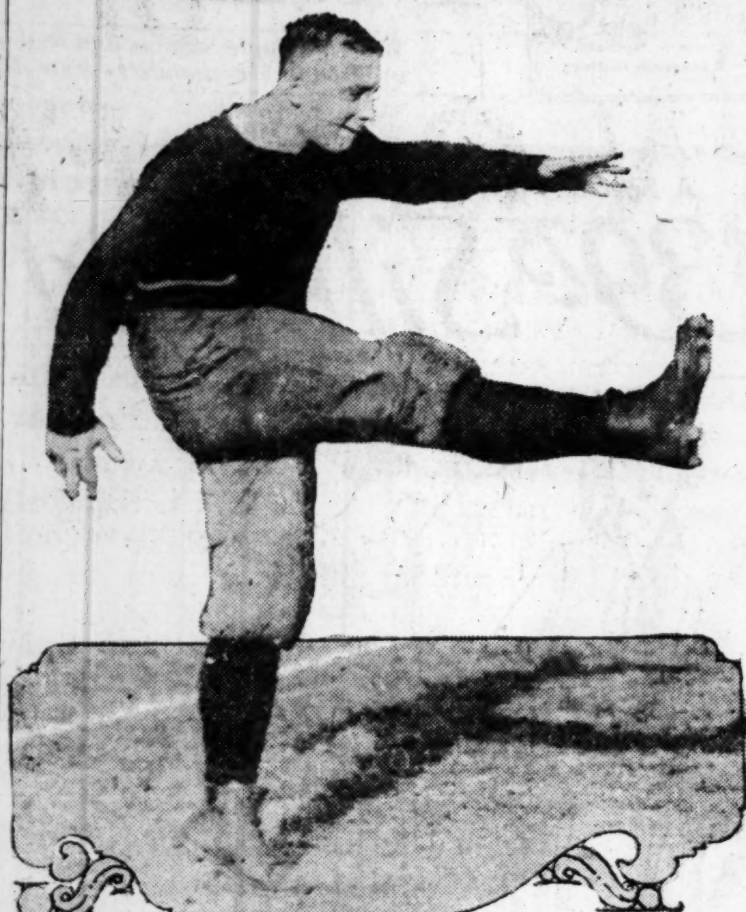

If they didn't hear that roar in regard, it was not the crowd's fault, but everything behind that roar, the drive, and kept it up at intervals whenever Shea showed himself. Toward the last both they finally forgot it. Or else their ears were so numb on a strike. But quite evidently the spectators as a unit wanted Henry Malcor to have the decision.

Shea explained later that Kerns had scored three knockdowns to Malcor's one, and had kept the other man "incapacitated" away from him throughout the fight; that he scored majority of the only blows worth mentioning during the bout, and that he did no holding at any time.

The "Banker" was very tired at the time, his nose was bleeding and his forehead was sweating where he did a most effective blocking with his face. Shea was fresh and boxing rings around his foe, albeit with the utmost caution and evident regard for the big Bear's powerful paw.

Otis Bryant substituted for Eddie Jernbek, who was withdrawn because of illness. The bout lasted long enough for Sallor Charles Jernbek, who was better and hitting harder than any time during his career, to be being outpointed when both men led simultaneously. The

STANLEY KECK, PRINCETON.

Keck is probably the greatest tackle in the East today, and possibly in the country, although the Chicago eleven made ground over him in the game with Princeton, according to reports. The astute Coach Stagg of Chicago probably "played" Keck with especially devised combinations.

Keck was an All-America man last year, and should be an improved player this season, because of the added experience. He received especial commendation from Walter Camp, in his All-America selections of 1920.

He does everything well, from the rudiments to working shift plays. In championship games he has broken through and blocked kicks for touchdowns; has broken through the enemy lines, intercepted passes, interfered for long runs that went for touchdowns, kicked goals from placement and raked down the field on punts faster than the ends.

In addition, he is a wonderful defensive player. McGuire, the Chicago player who started against Keck, acquitted himself creditably, according to accounts of the Maroons-Tigers battle.

Johnny Tillman Here for Match

St. Paul Welterweight Meets Alex Trambatis at the Armory, Tomorrow Night.

Johnny Tillman, St. Paul boxer, accompanied by four carrier pigeons and a manager, Jack Reddy, arrived at St. Louis last night. Johnny released the birds at Union Station, where, after circling around above the clock tower for awhile, they headed northwards for home, bearing messages to Tillman's family of his safe arrival here. The birds were released at 3:45 p. m. and Tillman expects a telegram today notifying him of the arrival of his messengers.

Tillman is here to box Alex Trambatis of Portland, Ore., in a 12-round bout at the Armory tomorrow night under the auspices of the Centennial Athletic Association. Tillman worked out yesterday at the Business Men's Gymnasium and will take light exercise today. He appeared in fine condition.

Tillman has an excellent record, and has met Champion Jack Britton five times. Trambatis is the most promising welterweight shown here in a long time.

Wiggins Defeats Burke.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 25.—Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis won a decision in 20 rounds last night over Marty Burke of New Orleans. More than 6000 persons booed and hissed the decision of Referee Walter Rogers.

crack of both blows against enemy bodies was almost simultaneous. Evidently the Sallor's reached home ahead of his foe's for Bryant went face down to the floor and stayed there for the count.

Kerns Boxes With Broken Hand.
Joe McMillen and Jimmy Kerns were engaged in a give-and-take battle, with plenty of rough and foul fighting on both sides, McMillen slowly gaining the upper hand, due to superior infighting trickiness, when Kerns began to crack.

This was in the fourth round. Where he had been getting home his right hand to McMillen's head, at the start. Kerns noticeably began to flag here. McMillen gave him a savage pounding and seemed about to finish him when the going mercifully sounded.

In the intermission Kerns' second knockdown was a statement confirmed later by a physician's examination. From that time Kerns' lot was a hard one. Fighting six rounds with a young tiger, and with only one hand for defensive purposes, is a sorry predicament for the best of boxers. Kerns was slowly cut to ribbons by McMillen.

During the last three rounds it seemed apparent that McMillen, covering his foe's condition, was mercifully pulling his punches, unwilling to hit a practically helpless foe. Kerns thus lasted out the bout badly cut up and with a hand that will prevent him from boxing for weeks.

Guilford Missed Chance to Make Dazzling Record

Chick Evans Believes Jess Could Have Finished With 65 Score at St. Louis.

Charles (Chick) Evans Jr. (Copyright, 1921.)

There is an interesting sidelight to Jesse Guilford's capture of the American amateur championship at St. Louis this year.

When Guilford won, golf in America lost what I believe was a great opportunity for a record that would have made the sport world gasp.

It is regrettable that someone didn't prevail upon Guilford to play out the remainder of the holes on his afternoon round, the day he defeated Robert Gardner in the final in order that his score for the round of the St. Louis Country Club course might be officially established.

I believe that on the particular day Guilford won his championship there was not a golfer living who could have beaten him. He would have beaten me the day he took the title had I been matched against him. I think he would have beaten Vardon or Ray, Mitchell, Duncan, Jim Barns, Jock Hutchison—anybody. In my opinion there is no golfer anywhere who could have matched his skill in the final against Guilford, Sept. 24, at St. Louis.

Might Have Scored a 65.

If he had played out the 18 holes of that afternoon round he could have been in with a card of 65, or possibly better. He might have hung up a world's record for an official score. It is too bad that someone didn't think to speak to Guilford about it. No doubt his joy over finally winning the championship was glory enough for him, but Guilford was supremely in his game that day, and my belief is that he could have added something to the history of golf had he played out the round.

Guilford's morning round, with Gardner for the champion, was a 71. This is one under par for that difficult course—one of the hardest championship courses I ever played. In the afternoon he reached the turn in four under par.

He had the entire round at this date he would have been in with a card of 64—and there was plenty of indication, I can assure you, that he was good enough for that score, if not a better one.

One Put on Each of Ten Holes.
Guilford registered birdies after birdies, and on 11 greens, I understand he took but one putt each! It is held that the medal score is not of such significance because of the conceded putts, but there was no doubt in the minds of those in the gallery back of Guilford and Gardner that Guilford was unwinding a terrific game. Nothing could be gained by questioning the result as being loose, because of the match play, for Guilford was running down putts from most any reasonable distance.

The match finished on hole 12. Beyond that hole Guilford would probably have required the full par five on hole 13—the longest hole of the course—but he might have taken a three on 14, a four on 15, a two on 16, a three on 17, and applied his long driving ability. With his long drive, however, he would have had a great advantage on the incoming holes I name. Hole 14 is not a long one for a player of Guilford's ability, and while 15 is long, Guilford had been on the green in two several times, so he might have repeated. Seventeen and 18 would not be impossible strokes, while 16, a par three, could be made in two.

Guilford had everything when his day arrived. It is too bad he didn't have a wonder score along with the new championship. But perhaps he may give it to us yet.

BENEFIT NETS $30,000 FOR CHRISTY MATHEWSON
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A check for $30,000 was sent yesterday to Christy Mathewson, who is fighting tuberculosis at Saratoga Lake. The money was paid by New York baseball fans at a benefit game for the former giant pitcher at the Polo Grounds Sept. 30.

Old-time ball players engaged in a five-inning game in the testimonial, but the regular league game was called off because of rain. The committee announced today, however, that through subscriptions, rain checks, and the sale of autographed baseballs, the gross receipts were $36,000. This amount may reach $40,000 through unredeemed rain checks.

Mathewson's gift is more than the entire player's pool in the world's series of 1905, when Matty pitched the Giants to three victories and the championship over the Athletics. The 1905 players' pool was $27,434.

Shanley, Punting Piker End, Out of Game for Season

Washington Star Was Kicked in the Head in Contest With Kansas Aggies.

Leo Shanley, right end and star punter of the Pikeaway football squad, will be unable to play any more football this season, physicians announced yesterday after an examination of the injury he received in the Kansas Aggie game, when he was kicked in the head. As Shanley is to graduate in June the doctors' announcement means that Shanley has played his last game with Washington.

The Pikers came out of Saturday's battle with the Sooners in good shape and, barring injuries in practice this week, will be in prime form for the Ames game at Francis Field Saturday. Freshman Coach Davis, who witnessed the Ames-Kansas game last week, rates the Iowa team as strong and fast. He said that looked better in action than the team that defeated it. However, he believes they will be evenly matched by the Pikers in weight and speed.

The Pikers were greatly outweighed in their game with the Oklahomaans, the line facing a disadvantage of close to 20 pounds a man. Unfamiliarity with the strong winds that sweep the field caused the Pikers much trouble in the first two quarters when Oklahoma did most of its scoring.

Coach Rider will rearrange his lineup for the Ames game. Long, right tackle, will be moved to guard and Singleton, all-Valley guard last year, will play the tackle. Denny is being groomed to play the end left vacant by Shanley, his weight giving him an advantage over Dugdale and Sarason, who will now play the center. Weinert, who was forced by pressure of his medical studies to leave the squad, has caught up with his work and returned for service.

Billkens Lose Drace.

Clouds of an indigo hue hung over Sportsman's Park last night when Steve O'Rourke's Billkens football team assembled for the daily practice. The team was in a deplorable condition after its struggle with the DePauw Methodists.

The latest advice is that "Dixie" Drace, the stellar fullback, will be kept out of the remainder of the season. Physicians said Drace's collar bone was broken. This would mean that "Dixie" is through.

Guilford and Gerraghty are severely bruised and battered and will not participate in any scrimmage for the next three days, but will most likely be in shape Saturday.

O'Rourke announced that Malloy, Lewis and Malloy would not play. The Lombard eleven this week, and would be nursed for the Creighton game Nov. 5. Malloy underwent a second operation on his kneecap Sunday and was still hobbling on crutches.

Gerraghty to Fill Gap.

Gerraghty will be used in the backfield Saturday in Drace's place. The fighting Colt is suffering from a bad ankle and many body bruises, but will be in shape after his lay-off.

The Billkens coach is planning to use Grennan and Thornton at tackle against the Lombard eleven and will probably give Swanston a chance at end.

Because of the many minor injuries O'Rourke contented himself last night with a light workout, followed by a lengthy "skull" drill.

The Lombard team boasts a strong squad this year and its scoring power is indicated by the large counts piled up so far this season. Lombard has twice defeated St. Louis in past years.

CLEVELAND GOLF CLUB WINS BENEFIT TOURNEY

GREENLEAF PLAYS ALLEN IN CUE EVENT TODAY

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Ralph Greenleaf, the titleholder and Bennie Allen, Kansas City, a former champion, will meet tonight for the first time in the present of the pool billiard tournament. Other matches on today's program were between James Maturo, New York, and Michael Kovach, Trenton, N. J.; Walter Franklin, Kansas City, and William F. De Langh, Philadelphia; and Arthur Woods, Philadelphia, and Jerome Keogh, Rochester, N. Y.

PENN TO HAVE 2 VARSITY EIGHTS NEXT SPRING

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Coach Wright of the University of Pennsylvania's crew, said he was planning to develop two varsity eights next spring, instead of the one standing crew of one senior and one junior crew. He said he had plenty of good material for two varsity eights, with a junior crew, and that he would enter them in every contest possible.

Chicago's Offensive Shift Beat Princeton, Roper Says

Tiger Coach Picks Yale, Navy and Pittsburg as Strongest Teams in East, Chicago as Best in Big Ten, and Georgia Tech as Southern Leader.

By W. W. (Bill) Roper. Head Coach, Princeton. (Copyright, 1921.)

Chicago's defeat of Princeton at Palmer Stadium proved the big upset of last Saturday's games. I covered this game rather extensively in my article in the Sunday papers. I have little to add. The Chicago offensive shift, supported by some of the fastest running backs on the football field, proved too much for the Princeton defense.

Garrity, the great Princeton fullback, made a valiant effort to change defeat into victory when he came in the fourth quarter, but it was too much to expect that he could score against the Chicago defense, when this was the first scrimmage he had been in for nearly three weeks. The Princeton team spent Sunday at the Pine Valley Golf Club, getting over its bruises. The men are in a splendid frame of mind and I still have every reason to believe they will find themselves in the big games.

Harvard and Penn State had a thrilling afternoon. The game was full of offensive work on both sides. Harvard teams in the past few years have a great knack of coming up from behind in the last quarter, and this Harvard team seems to be no exception. Substitutions at the proper time tied the game for Harvard.

Buell Tied the Score.

Last fall Buell by his wonderful forward passing changed the Princeton game from a defeat to a tie and this same Buell repeated against Penn State. In the last few minutes of the fourth period he shot a beautifully timed forward pass to Churchill at the extreme end of the field, tying the score. Churchill is one of the fastest backs on the Harvard squad. He is 15 pounds heavier than last year, but very dangerous in a broken field. Both teams played splendid offensive football and neither team could hold the other on the defense. The game opened as if Harvard was going to win on a walk, but after it had scored two touchdowns the Penn State team came back with a terrible rush and took the lead until near the end, when Harvard generalship and fresh men told the tale.

The Yale team is slowly finding itself. This was primarily due to the fact that Yale was away from the game. And what is more, Yale backs know how to forward pass and to defend against it. Yale's two scores were the direct result of the forward pass. When a good forward pass is made, the Yale defense and line play have always been formidable. When a good forward pass attack is added, the team

Most Formidable Teams.

The games last Saturday give a pretty good idea of the comparative strength of the teams in different sections. From what they have shown to date, I pick Yale, the Navy and Pittsburg as the most formidable in the East, with Penn State, Dartmouth and Harvard in the second class, Princeton, the Army and Lafayette third and Pennsylvania and Cornell the best of the fourth class. Tech has been the strongest team in the South, with the University of Georgia a close second. I don't include Georgetown in this ranking because it really is in a section of its own.

On the former shown Saturday, Chicago has the best team in the conference. In the Missouri Valley, it looks as if Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri will fight it out for the Western championship. California is undoubtedly the strongest team in the far West.

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO ENTERTAIN TENNIS CHAMPIONS THURSDAY

The local tennis champions will be guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce Building. Members who won the recent Junior Chamber tennis tournament and the winners of the junior tennis center event at the Triple A Club, will take part in the ceremony.

Ted Drewes, winner of the Junior Chamber singles title, will receive a silver loving cup, while Woodward H. Brown, the runner-up, will be given a gold centered leather pocketbook. Both these prizes were presented by Davidson Ober.

Woody Brown and Fred Jostles, winners of the Junior Chamber doubles tournament, will receive silver cups presented by Henry Geissenbier and Andrew Mungenast of the Board of Directors. The runners-up in this event will be awarded silver pencils.

J. Edward Murphy will present prizes to Phil White, runner-up in the Junior tennis center singles event, and Bert Hopkins and Forest Stuckman, runners-up in the doubles event. William H. Bierman and Richard Rosebrough, the Junior champions, will receive medals awarded to them by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

LINCOLN MAY NOT PLAY FOR TIGERS, SATURDAY; HURT IN AGGIES GAME

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 25.—Allen Lincoln's knee was injured in the Kansas Aggie game Saturday when he and Packwood tackled Starke, knocking him out, and Starke fell on Lincoln, putting him out.

Lincoln was able to stay in the game after he was revived. He is walking with a slight limp, and will probably be out of the game against Drake this week.

According to Coach Phelan the manner in which Lincoln's legs were taped probably prevented a more serious injury.

Cleveland to Play Soldan in School Feature Saturday

McKinley Loses Hanley, Star Center—Central Rosts and Prepares for Nov. 5 Contest.

The second heat of the Intercollegiate League race, which will be held Saturday, should prove the most interesting of the year, due to the fact that Soldan and Cleveland, who are said to be the strongest contenders this year, will meet.

The showing of Penn State's eleven against Western Military Academy cannot be taken too seriously, for it is the belief of football followers that the Carson, Pa. team has had hard luck during the training period, and a number of promising men have been disabled. For this reason a good estimate of the squad cannot be had, as many of the injuries are slight and may allow the gridlers to be in harness next Saturday.

Coach Cook's Soldan team, with the exception of one back, came through the encounter with Yeatman in good shape. The injured player suffered minor hurts and will probably be in the Cleveland contest. Cook said that Young, one of his chance backs, was now in good shape, but that Elchier's work had been satisfactory and Young might be used in another position.

I was surprised at Ohio State's 14-0 victory over Michigan. The Oberlin defeat must have been a blessing in disguise for Ohio. George Brown's run against the Holy Cross looks remarkable. In fact, each succeeding Saturday shows how impossible it is to tell anything by comparative scores.

Dartmouth and Cornell both played good games and had no trouble in defeating Columbia and Colgate. The Swarthmore-Franklin and Marshall 7-7 tie looks funny after Swarthmore's game against Penn. Centre College had a romp against Georgetown and the University of California had no difficulty in defeating Oregon.

The games last Saturday give a pretty good idea of the comparative strength of the teams in different sections. From what they have shown to date, I pick Yale, the Navy and Pittsburg as the most formidable in the East, with Penn State, Dartmouth and Harvard in the second class, Princeton, the Army and Lafayette third and Pennsylvania and Cornell the best of the fourth class.

NATIONAL SOCCER CUP DRAW, EASTERN SECTION, CALLS FOR 17 GAMES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A special meeting of the National Challenge Cup Committee of the United States Football Association was held last night. The committee will draw the draw for the second round of the national cup competition and the pairings for the ties to be played off on or before Nov. 4 on the grounds of the first named club. Kick off at 2:30. The result follows:

Southern Massachusetts—Abingdon vs. American Woolen; City and Davis vs. Roxbury or Smith and Dove.

Southern New England—Berkley vs. Ashton and Berkley; River vs. Londale or Esmond; Fairview Rovers vs. Westbury; Charlestown; St. Michaels vs. P. Coates.

Connecticut—District—Bridgeport City vs. Danvers; St. George vs. E. Penns and St. New York—Philadelphia vs. M. E. Smith; Philadelphia vs. Bethlehem Steel; New York vs. Fairdale or Diagon; Glen Cove or Yonkers Thistle vs. Todd's Ship; Vikings vs. Greenpoint or Frisco.

Northwestern New York—Rochester Celts vs. Rochester City Moon; New Jersey—Antler vs. Babcock; Wilcox; Jersey City Celts or Federal Ship vs. Harrison or Trenton Napier.

The General Electric F. G. 11, fined $100 for refusing to play in the Charlestown Club in the last round, and the tie was awarded to the latter.

FRENCH SCORING SYSTEM BEATS BRITISH ATHLETES

PARIS.—The French team's defeat in the last dual track meet of England and France was due to a new point scoring system proposed by the French Athletic Federation. The English players accepted the system after a debate and defeated France, 123 to 118.

The method used was 7 points for first, 5 for second, 4 for third, 3 for fourth, 2 for fifth and 1 for sixth. The English suggested 6 points for first, 3 for second and 1 for third. If the French accepted this the English would have won, 50 to 49.

A sinister engine of death. This grim and forbidding plane carries 30 machine guns, each capable of firing 1500 shots a minute. Body and wings are armored. In "next war" it will be used for raking troops on ground—another grisly argument for disarmament.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Children's Aid Society.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In behalf of the Children's Aid Society, I write to thank you for your prompt and generous support in publishing the statement of our urgent need of funds.

I also wish to express through your columns our warm thanks to all of those who so kindly contributed money in answer to our appeal.

Never before in the history of the 12 years' existence of the Children's Aid Society have we faced the danger of being obliged to completely discontinue our work for the unfortunate children of St. Louis. Notwithstanding the amount received from our appeal, we have not yet enough to insure the continuation of our work for any length of time unless other funds are forthcoming. The number of children in distress increases month by month during the present business depression. We are more needed now than ever before and we are less able than ever before to face the great responsibility of caring for the delicate, sick and orphaned children who are referred to us every day from many sources.

We take these handicapped children and place them in carefully selected private homes, paying their board and providing clothing for them. We give them the chance that is every child's natural right—a normal, sheltered, happy childhood that builds up a foundation for lives which are an asset to the community. We have now 267 children, of whom more than 40 are babies under two years old.

We still need money desperately and appeal for contributions of any amount, large or small, which should be sent to the Children's Aid Society, Vanol Building, Olive and Vandeventer avenues.

ELIZABETH L. HITCHCOCK,
President.

Keep to the Right.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As another step toward more safety for the walking public, pedestrians should be induced to keep to the right on sidewalks and crossings. This will prevent confusion and sometimes accidents and facilitate more comfortable walking.

Do We Think?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I wonder if Roger Babson was right when he said: "Two per cent of the population of America was awake, the other 98 per cent sleeps on."

Now we know that 2 per cent of the population controls practically 10 per cent of the wealth, and in order to do this, I imagine they must necessarily be awake. But the biography of the minority proves that to begin with they, too, belonged to the great majority. They woke up, and in order to do this, I imagine they used and get on like it ourselves.

It has also been said that the American workman as a class don't know how to think, principally because, so it is claimed, he hasn't time to learn. Now isn't it reasonable to suppose that his employer finds time to think? Otherwise he would not have employment for the other fellow. Yet 24 hours is all the time any of us is allowed.

Assuming that time favors no class, and that we have a fairly equal capacity for thought, the question is, are we making the most of what we have? Are we closing our minds with the dust of discontent, petty jealousy and other mental poisons, or are we using it in a constructive way? Or, again, do we let the other fellow do our thinking for us and accept his conclusions for our own?

ABRAHAM O'BRIEN.

Chouteau Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ST. LOUIS should do something with Seventh street in front of the Free Bridge.

Thousands of auto tourists cross the bridge into your city every summer and, what a sight to behold! Nothing but dilapidation and decay. Nothing but rickshaws and shacks. Old, worn out cobblestones, double street car tracks that almost graze the approach and a vacant lot full of rubbish and weeds.

Then the visitor proceeds along Chouteau avenue and becomes more disgusted. Not a single structure of any importance anywhere below Grand avenue. And what a magnificent driveway it could be made by widening and repaving. Straight as an arrow it runs from the river to Forest Park, a distance of nearly five miles, and from there turns into Clayton road which continues some 20 miles further.

Who's your Mayor? Have you no civic improvement league? Have you no real estate exchange? Does nobody in your city realize the vast importance of this great thoroughfare? Any other city in the United States would be proud to have it. St. Louis should at once remove the car tracks from Seventh street in front of the bridge, but a driveway through the vacant lot leading into Chouteau avenue at about Eighth street, and the triangle piece of lot left could be fixed up with an ornamental fountain or a grassy plot, which would greatly improve the entrance to your city. The first impression is the one that lingers.

VISITOR FROM OHIO.

MORE FORD NONSENSE.

It would be difficult to imagine three sillier statements than those accredited to Henry Ford in a brief interview, namely, that back of all the railroad strike talk is the "sinister influence of international bankers;" that Lloyd George is coming to the disarmament conference to secure the cancellation of England's indebtedness to us; that "what we ought to do is shoot the whole works. I mean that this country is big enough and ought to be brave enough to disarm completely."

The only justification for printing such statements is the fact that Mr. Ford, because of his money and industrial genius, is supposed to be worth quoting. In the case of an obscure man such nonsense would be dismissed. Unfortunately, Mr. Ford's position in the business world makes his vagaries important and, what is far worse, imbues them with mischievous potency.

The Post-Dispatch holds no brief for bankers, international or parochial, but it is the most palpable buncombe to picture the international bankers as pulling the strings of the threatened railroad strike. Was the question of a strike submitted to a vote of the railroad unions at the instance of the international bankers? Did the international bankers electorally among the railroad workers and procure the "overwhelming vote in favor of a strike"? Are the heads of the railroad brotherhoods mere puppets to do the bidding of the international bankers? Unless those questions can be answered affirmatively Mr. Ford's diagnosis of the railroad strike is a strange blend of folly and recklessness.

Second, as regards Lloyd George's presence at the disarmament conference, too far from being an evil omen it may be construed as a happy augury. It emphasizes the importance with which Great Britain views this effort. It is impossible to say flatly that the British Premier's influence will be on the side of armament reduction, but that is the reasonable presumption. In any event, only the most cynical would argue that the different European Governments are sending their most powerful public men to Washington in order to prevent the conference from accomplishing the object for which it has been called.

Finally, the proposal that the United States disarm completely, regardless of what other nations do, is the last word in fatuous pacifism. It accentuates the regret, occasioned by other blundering, that Henry Ford is not content to stick to his specialty in which he has achieved such mastery and such a deserved reputation for fairness and good intent.

THE OTHER POWERS AND CHINA.

In an interview in the Post-Dispatch Monday with Dr. Sao Ke Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, appeared this significant statement: "The full development of China can come only if the other Powers sympathize with China and stop the aggression upon her." The significance of the assertion, it seems to us, is implied rather than expressed. If the "Pacific problems" are to cease from troubling the world there must be something more than a cessation of aggression upon China; there must be restitution.

On the lips of China restitution is a word that rings far. London and Paris hear it quite as distinctly as does Tokio. The Berlin of the Hohenzollerns hears it. Long before the Shantung outrage Great Britain, France and Germany were grabbing off huge slices of China. The grab was stiltedly couched in the dignified term, "sphere of influence," but that high-sounding phrase did not alter the meanness of the offense.

Just how far the various Powers may be willing to go in restoring what have taken from China is problematical. That complete restoration will be made at once is too much to hope for. Nevertheless, if international amity is solidly to be established the wrongs done China must be righted.

Soon there will be nothing but trouble and taxes brewing in the home.

RUSSIA AND NORTH DAKOTA.

The speech of Premier Lenin admitting the failure of communism is reported by the Rosta agency, a bolshevik institution. It, therefore, may be accepted as official. The Soviet Government can hardly have joined in "propaganda" against itself. The explanation, moreover, omits the usual reasons with which the Lenin communiques used to account for unfilled promises and defeated hopes, such as the "blockade" and the military invasions of Russia "financed by the capitalist Governments." Lenin now confesses that "our economic policies did not create that raising of productive powers which was recognized in the party program as fundamental and urgent."

Meanwhile the failure of another more or less communistic undertaking is recorded. The formulae of North Dakota's Non-Partisan Leaguers seem to have been as ineffectual as the direct action of bolshevism. North Dakota, to be sure, never suffered from a blockade and never had to fight off the mercenary troops of the capitalist system, but the Townley dream is still before the horizon.

The latest expression of public disillusionment in that State is an injunction procured by taxpayers preventing the State-controlled Bank of North Dakota from receiving any more deposits. It is alleged that the bank is insolvent. With the various other State owned and operated enterprises in actual or prospective collapse, North Dakota citizens, evidently, are trying to get from under as soon as they can.

The Lenin and Townleys appear periodically with their panaceas, but every such adventure confirms the verity that there is only one way to business success—the prosaic way blazed out by hard work and thrift.

THE MENACE OF EX-KINGS.

The effort of ex-Emperor Charles to regain the throne of Hungary gives peculiar force to the logic of revolutionists that the only safe ex-King is a dead ex-King.

A dethroned living monarch is always a center of discontent, reaction and counter revolution. Even when he lacks courage and persistence, which Charles is demonstrating without much statesmanship or generalship, he is used as a figurehead around which monarchical leaders rally. Immediate heirs to a throne, as the history of Europe proves, are menaces to the peace of their countries and the general peace. They always have court and privilege-loving followers who keep the country in a turmoil with actual attempts to revive the monarchy or continual threats. They and their followers disturb their neighbors. France, although her revolutionists beheaded Louis XVI and his Queen and made way with his heir, has never been without its monarchist factions rallying around a Bonaparte or a Bourbon.

Feeble as Wilhelm and his sons have proven themselves, they are the centers of conspiracy in Germany which menaces more than anything else now the peaceful progress of republican Germany. Portugal is another example.

Perhaps some European peoples feel that their traditions and habits of thought call for a royal figurehead such as England possesses and there may be lapses into parliamentary monarchies with good reason and effect, such as there have been in Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania. But whether the peoples want a monarch or a republic, claimants to thrones are a troublesome and menacing lot.

We are not advising revolutionists to behead ex-Kings, but the logic of it, if the revolution is to bring permanent results, is manifest. The itch for royal power and privilege and pomp among royalties and nobilities is incurable except by a capital operation. There is justification for it in the fact that they rebel against and are traitors to the established Government and it prevents bloodshed.

MORE DRY DISTRESS.

Secretary Mellon's announcement that regulations are to be issued at once for the medicinal use of beer and wine will undoubtedly cause acute distress among the prohibition extremists. Those extremists are not content with enforcement of the prohibition laws, severe as they are. They insist upon restrictions not included or contemplated in the law.

In that attitude the extreme prohibitionists are attempting to impose unlawful repression. They are attempting to exercise unlawful powers. They are trying to practice lawlessness themselves.

That fact is in no wise altered because the fanatics are unable to perceive the illegality of their attitude, but that fact does go to show what a Pandora's box the eighteenth amendment has become.

FINANCE AT THE CONFERENCE.

The United States Government, it is reported, has consented to permit on the agenda of the Washington conference a consideration of the whole subject of the economic and financial burdens under which the world is struggling. Objection of the Washington Government, it is said, has been swept away by pressure brought to bear by American financiers and by such expressions from abroad as that of Winston Churchill to the effect that no subject on the agenda could be as important as that of international exchange, war debts and world finance problems generally.

By all means these problems should be the subject of international conference even though it should be necessary to call another assembly of the nations for that purpose. Whether or not to include them in the conference for armament reduction is a question affected only by the fact that the purpose for which the conference was called is paramount and must be carried out.

If it had been intended originally that the subjects of finance and economics were to be taken up there might have been a difference in the selection of one or two of the American delegates. Still greater would have been the difference in all the delegations comprising a conference devoted exclusively to these subjects. Will a conference of political and diplomatic delegates be sufficiently well fitted to consider financial and economic subjects?

There is something to be said against placing the fate of the nations in the hands of the financial profession. In any event the subject of economic rehabilitation should be given thorough, constructive consideration. And if a disarmament conference is not sufficient to the task it should be undertaken by a different body. The nations pulling together under a common economic burden would be far more effective than, as at present, pulling severally or in actual opposition.

BOOTLEG BUSINESS IN EUROPE.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
By Clark McDanna

If we are to judge by the experience of our fellow-townsmen, Dr. Edgar W. Ammann, an old and delightful Western practice is imperiled by the prying hand of our time. The Doctor is going down the Mississippi on a houseboat—an ambition we have all had in the season when wild money is available, when nuts are falling, when pumpkins are piling and when nature's urge arouses in us every primitive instinct. How many times have we wished to cast off on the broad current of this majestic stream—bidding care begone—a season to float down aisles of loveliness leading on and on through the shining haze of fall. Braver than most of us, the Doctor did it. After he left Cairo a dead man was found on the bank. This man the local authorities readily identified as the Doctor himself. That hypothesis falling when a friend of the Doctor went to Cairo, the Sheriff decided that someone on the houseboat had something to do with it. Thus it came about that one day this week, when the Doctor's houseboat was lastly passing Capes Landing, Tenn., a motorboat carrying the Sheriff's posse overtook the unsuspecting lotus-eaters and returned them to Cairo. The Doctor was amazed. He was not dead, nor did anyone on the boat know anything of a dead man. It was all a lamentable mistake and the houseboat at Capes Landing, Tenn., has been permitted to go upon its way. Who wants to go down the river under conditions of that sort—with prying eyes behind every bush, a possible dead man in every cove, and Sheriffs daubing about in speedboats!

ABOUT HARRY HAWES.

(Jack Blanton in Monroe County Appeal.)
St. Louis looked up shop eight last week in order to pay tribute to the constructive citizenship of Harry B. Hawes. Ministers, officials, bankers, merchants, laborers and professional men of all sorts voiced their appreciation of worth while things Hawes had done for his city and State. That Missouri is a better place in which to live because of this young man's activities is no question at all. That to him, more than any other, agencies combined, will be due the great system of solid roads our State is about to build, the public very generally is agreed. To him is also due great credit for an exemplification of the idea that true patriotism consists of real service to the people as a whole rather than to a partisan political machine. While the entire State could not be present in person it was present in spirit when St. Louis was honoring Harry B. Hawes last week.

CITY SPARROWS.

YOU starvelings! Oftentimes I wonder how in the scheme of things you chance to be—And what your economic value is, And why at times you seem so typical of me? Now if you dress in crimson, blue or golden Or if your note rang like the mocker's glee, Many there'd be to whom you'd be beholden—"Fine feathers make fine birds," with these and me!

Hey, starvelings! Here's your daily portion Of crumbs, to help you in the straits; It costs me naught and yet, to you may mean Another day of pulsing, vivid life!

You and I have much in common, starvelings—You snatch your living from the busy street, and so do I; And when the night comes down, it finds us sleeping, dreaming Beneath the eaves of that same street—so high!

Your beady eyes are just as bright as mine, You seem as plump as butter birds today—And who among the throng I serve is thinking That I, too, am a starveling, fluttering stray? And right here we might chirp a moral: There's others, like us, in the starveling chase, And one kind word might help—ye gods! might save us.

To further, better efforts in the race.

FRANCESCA PIU.

SHALL THERE BE LIGHT.

Who are you? I ask. And I know the answer will resolve itself into the words, a child of God. For, try as you will to describe yourself, you are lost in a cloud and can only designate your true paternity as that of "a child of God."

Ask the child of Japan. He, too, can trace his beginnings, even through the mists to the same main branch of the human family from which you spring, the Aryans. That was before the Mongols invaded their land, giving to them their present color of skin and shape of eye.

"Ah, yes," you say, "but no Mongol blood flows in my veins. No? Are you from a Latin race? The Mongols penetrated Rome. A Slav? The Mongols overran Russia. A way-back Yankee? Are you sure no drop of American Indian flows in your veins. The Mongols have left traces on even your own continent."

What a wonderful experience it would be if you could walk down an aisle of your forebears one after another back to the very beginnings of your race. Someone has recently written that carefully the torch of life has been handed down from descendant to descendant without a break. What a responsibility is ours! How dull has been the light shed by many of us? That we have shone brightly, but the brightest of all that we have knowledge of is unquestionably the light of Christ. There have been others of lesser magnitude—Buddha, Confucius, Mahomet and others—but the light of Christ draws us nearer the light of our father—God.

Today we must declare ourselves with or without that light. The big vision it spreads before us, the brotherhood of man, is possible only if we love one another. If we turn to other cheek. That we love our enemies: that is the supreme test.

There are none so blind as those who will not see. They must walk in darkness. But God will not desert humanity, though we desert Him. Nothing short of perfection of the millennium, will satisfy Him. Surely this bright light of Christ is showing us the way. We are at the cross-roads. Shall we have to grope for the light while elsewhere new peoples lift their eyes to the light of God? We must choose between God and Mammon.

Remember the strange prophecy of Tolstol of the great war that was to come and of the great man-of-letters who would lead us. And then his prophecy that a new Messiah would come with a message—a Messiah half-Mongol and half-Slav.

Shall we bow our heads and say this next forward step, disarmament, this turning of the cheek, is not for us? We hear our conscience. Christ has shown the way. Our conscience makes cowards of us all. We must have this great work to a superior people, a people perhaps half-Mongol, half-Slav. Who knows?

It is interesting to learn that little Cal Coolidge has finally taken the offensive at Washington. On yesterday, while the Republicans and Democrats were quarreling over the tax bill, little Cal rose from his chair and rammed standing until the fracas ended. We are told that this is a custom in the Massachusetts Legislature, and are therefore indebted to little Cal for a pleasing innovation. We might say that in Massachusetts the custom at such a time is for the chair to lie down on the floor behind the desk.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

RELIEF AND REPUDIATION.

From the New Republic.

THEY (England, France and Italy) can't do it. They should ask the American Government to do it. The Conference on Limitation of Armaments with another conference on economic and financial relief for Europe. It is plain that the European peoples are steadily improving their states of mind, their Governments are steadily sinking deeper into the mire of economic bankruptcy and social convulsion. Something must break very soon. During 1922 several European Governments will have to follow the example of some American states after the Civil War and either scale down or repudiate their debts. It is not possible now to prevent this repudiation. It is still possible to consider what can be done in order to repair some of the damage, to prevent more damage and to devise financial shock absorbers for the more solvent nations. This is the business in which Europe can fairly ask the United States to assume the lead. Without American assistance the European nations will recover from their painful slowness and after many privations and vicissitudes. Until Europe recovers, American business will suffer from impoverished markets abroad, general social unrest, a constant reaction to speculation and in all probability steady and incalculable fluctuations in prices.

REPUDIATING THE TOLLS THERE.

From the Columbus Dispatch.

THE success of the Washington conference will depend in a very peculiar degree upon the impression which the conferring nations can make upon one another that they will maintain the most sacred fidelity any engagement which they have entered into. And now just a month before the conference opens, a majority of the states deliberately votes for a measure which the world outside must with virtual unanimity regard as in direct violation of our engagements in the Flay-Pauncefote treaty, entered into at such an urgent moment only a few years ago. And the United States on our own delegation to this conference, Elihu Root, is himself on record in an extended speech in the Senate against the proposed free tolls for American vessels on the Panama canal. We are told in the Washington dispatches that the bill will lie in wait in the House until after the conference is over. It is idle to suppose that inaction in the House can in any way lessen the damage done by the action of the Senate has done. The House can retrieve the situation in one way and one way only, and that is to bring up the bill before the conference meets and defeat it on a square vote and say vote.

MARRIAGE AND CITIZENSHIP.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

JUSTICE in the refusal of a Supreme Court Justice in New York to naturalize Samuel Maier, a retail jeweler, because his wife refused to accompany him to court and take the oath of allegiance along with her husband. The Finck justified his refusal on the ground that the naturalization law would make the applicant's wife automatically a citizen, whereas appeared that her political views prevented her taking the oath of allegiance. By refusing to naturalize Maier he was preventing citizenship from being thrust upon her against her will. It is hard, though, on Maier, assuming him to be sincere in his desire and loyal to American institutions. And while he intimates that he is willing to be divorced from his wife in order to become a citizen of the United States, this cannot be called an ideal solution. The problem is raised in a form which makes it necessary to go back to first principles, including the rights of the individual as distinguished from the rights of the rights of woman have suffered in the past. This does not justify impairment of the rights of men.

The Daily Burgess Bedtime Story

Chatterer Is Called a Thief

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A bad name sticks as naught else.
To bird or beast or boy or man.
—Old Mother Nature

I F ever there was a surprise, it was when Chatterer, that one who was Chatterer, was found to be a thief. Chatterer was a squirrel who lived in the Green Forest. Only the night before it had been filled to the brim with little, sweet, brown, nutty and now the very first thing in the morning it was empty. Chatterer had intended to take those nuts himself and had chuckled at the surprise the one who owned them would have when he found that hole empty. It had never entered his funny little head that he would be the one to be surprised.

Right away, Chatterer flew into a great rage. To have seen him heard him you would have supposed those nuts had really belonged to him. You never would have guessed that they had belonged to some one else and that he had intended to steal them. As a matter of fact Chatterer almost made himself believe that they belonged to him. People say sometimes. He had to be sure of them that he had come to look on them as really his.

So for a few minutes Chatterer's tongue flew, as only his tongue fly, as he told no one in particular for there was no one about, what he thought of the thief who had stolen those nuts. Then he began to wonder who had taken them. He was sure that either Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel or Rusty Fox Squirrel had hidden them. His first thought was that the owner had taken them away. But he knew that, like himself, Happy Jack and Rusty went to bed with the contents of the Black Shadows and had peeked at those nuts the last thing before going to bed. He was barely sun-up and he was sure he was the first one over the top. Neither of his big cousins could possibly have taken away any of the nuts that morning. It was all very mysterious and provoking.

He climbed up on the old stump and sat down to think. He was sitting there when Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel came along. He saw Chatterer sitting on that stump and instantly he became suspicious. He hurried around to where he could see between the roots that old stump and instantly he saw that his worst fears were true. The hole was empty! You see it was he who had filled that hole with the little, sweet, brown nuts. Instantly he was sure that Chatterer had stolen them.

"Thief!" Chatterer screamed and started for Chatterer as angry a Gray Squirrel as he had ever seen.

Chatterer didn't wait for him. He knew Chatterer is hardly half as fast as Happy Jack. He jumped to the nearest tree and raced up. Happy Jack after him all the while calling him a thief and robber threatening to do dreadful things.

"I'm not a thief!" screamed Chatterer. "I haven't touched a nut!" Chatterer had succeeded in stealing them as he had planned. Chatterer wouldn't have minded being called a thief. But he didn't want to be called a thief. He was angry clear through.

As for Happy Jack he didn't doubt that Chatterer had stolen those nuts. He didn't know Chatterer was sitting on that old stump and he didn't know that Chatterer had stolen those nuts. He was sure that Chatterer had stolen them. He was sure that Chatterer had stolen them. He was sure that Chatterer had stolen them.

Of course, he had taken those nuts. And so, though he was sure that Chatterer was a thief, he was sure that Chatterer was a thief. He was sure that Chatterer was a thief. He was sure that Chatterer was a thief. He was sure that Chatterer was a thief.

Though no ill will he cherished,

The dinosaur, by habit,
Preferred the simple life
Eschewing, like the rabbit,
All violence and strife.
The kindest instincts filled him;
His soul was pure and shy;
Yet evolution killed him
And spared the vicious fly.

The auk was meek and lowly
And placid and discreet,
His time devoted wholly
To hunting things to eat.
Yet when extinct they found him
On Unalaska's shore,
Mosquitoes swarmed around him
As thickly as before.

We bow to evolution,
Far be it from a hard
To hold this institution
In cynic disregard.
But had more man attempted,
So vast an enterprise,
He wouldn't have exempted
Mosquitoes, fleas and flies!
